Sen. Humphrey Says Thursday Windup Is Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress's drive for final adjournment stalled again, then inched ahead late Tuesday with some progress on advancing the multi-billion-dollar water projects bill—one of several remaining legislative roadblocks.

The House Rules Committee approved by voice vote a resolution to send the controversial proposal to conference to iron out House-Senate differences.

The resolution, subject to House adoption, could be presented Wednesday. Committee chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., would not say when he would file it but said if he acted Wednesday it couldn't be called up until Thursday.

And Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the Senate's assistant Democratic leader, said Thursday night is the target now for winding up the longest session since 1951.

Mansfield Skeptical

He predicted that goal could be achieved, but when Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana was informed of the forecast he retorted: "What week?"

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said every effort was being made to "get through this week."

The water projects conference will be dealing with a Senate authorization of more than $4 billion for flood control, navigation and beach erosion projects and a House authorization of $2.3 billion for the same purposes.

There were also these other major hurdles to adjournment:

Settling a House-Senate dispute over a $25-million research item in the $5-billion farm appropriation bill. House and Senate appropriation committee members discussed their differences Tuesday but announced no results.

Tax-Pension Obstacle

Legislation granting a tax break for self-employed persons who set up their own pension plans. The bill, awaiting President Kennedy's action, must be signed or vetoed by Wednesday midnight or it becomes law automatically. Congress is expected to attempt to override any veto.

Humphrey, who spoke to newsmen after a White House conference of Democratic leaders, expressed a personal opinion there would be no veto.

The House put aside legislative business Tuesday because of the death of Rep. Clem Miller, D-Calif., killed in an airplane crash. It met for less than two hours; the Senate quit after about 3½ hours.

RETIRING — Frank J. Starzel is retiring as general manager of The Associated Press after 14 years as the chief executive officer of the worldwide news service. Inquiry Rules Soblen Took His Own Life

No Evidence Found Bail-Jumping Spy Had Assistance

LONDON (AP) — A coroner's jury returned Tuesday a verdict of suicide in Robert A. Soblen's death. It found the bail-jumping spy killed himself with an overdose of sleeping pills which he had hidden in a secret pocket of his trousers.

The verdict, reached after 82 minutes of deliberation, left unsolved the mystery of how and where Soblen, 61, got the pills with which he knocked himself into a fatal coma Sept. 6. He died five days later without regaining consciousness.

No Evidence Of Outside Help

A Scotland Yard detective testified Soblen had hidden the pills in a secret pocket of his trousers. He swallowed some as he was on his way by ambulance to London Airport to be deported to the United States to face a life prison term for spying for the Soviets.

But the investigator, Supt. James MacKay, told the inquiry: "I have found no evidence that he was assisted by any person."

The drug Soblen used was lotusate, similar to seconal. MacKay said small pink lotusate tablets were found wrapped in a plastic bag in a secret section of a pocket after Soblen collapsed.

"There appeared to be small extra compartments in the pockets themselves, made by stitching off part of the ordinary compartments," another police witness said.

Stripped And Searched

The New York psychiatrist, who jumped $100,000 bail June 25 in a vain attempt to find asylum first in Israel and then in Britain, had spent most of his two-month stay in London in the Brixton Prison hospital. He suffered from lymphatic leukemia, a blood disease which he said was killing him.

Prison Guard Wilbur Burrows testified Soblen was stripped to the skin and searched less than two hours before he started the ambulance ride that landed him—after diversion from the airport—at Hillingdon Hospital. Burrows said the search yielded two handkerchiefs, a ball point pen, an empty glass vial and a plastic packet labeled "sunflower seeds."

The official medical cause of Soblen's death, given by a pathologist, Dr. Robert D. Teare, was that the spy died from exhaustion due to the combination of barbiturate poisoning and leukemia.

Army Troop Segregation Draws Blast

Negro Denies He Was 'Selected' To Integrate Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Negro James H. Meredith criticized Tuesday the way the Army and, indirectly, the NAACP have handled certain aspects of his historic desegregation of the University of Mississippi.

He said the instances he cited "have made my struggle most difficult."

In a formal statement made available to newsmen, Meredith:

1. Again denied a report, attributed earlier to a leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that he had been picked for the desegregation move, rather than acting on his own initiative.

2. Complained that the Army had segregated the troops brought in here after the riot that erupted when he appeared on the campus nine days ago.

"Self-Selected," NAACP Says

Meredith named no NAACP official in his complaint. But John A. Morsell, assistant to Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the NAACP, said in New York that Meredith, in effect, was "self-selected" and added: "It does not matter . . . whether he was self-selected or handpicked."

As for the Army, it flatly denied that segregation was the order of the day at present but did say some patrols had been kept on an all-white basis at the height of the tension several days ago.

Otherwise, Meredith headed into his seventh day of classes and ate lunch in the school cafeteria without incident. A Justice Department attorney accompanied him, and two marshals stayed close by.

The Army said it was continuing its troop-withdrawal policy by pulling out 5,900 more regular soldiers from the Mississippi-Tennessee area. This brings to 11,300 the number withdrawn since Monday.

10,000 Troops Remain

About 10,000 soldiers remain in the Oxford area—some 7,000 regular troops and about 3,000 Mississippi National Guardsmen, the Army said.

Later Tuesday the Army announced it has authorized release of up to 30 per cent of the National Guardsmen "in order to alleviate hardship."

The Army said that units on active duty will be permitted to release Wednesday up to 30 per cent of their personnel "provided this release does not unduly impair their operational capability."

Those eligible for release include teachers, students, persons engaged in seasonal employment, those who have critical occupations and those whose retention on active duty would cause "personal or community hardship."

Castro Delays Cuban Captives Ransom Talks

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro postponed Tuesday what had been hoped would be the final meeting with New York attorney James B. Donovan leading to the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners, informed sources reported.

The informants said that it was unlikely Castro and Donovan would meet later in the day.

"You'd better check again tomorrow," the informants told newsmen.

The sources said Castro put off the session so he could welcome President Osvaldo Dorticos back from the United Nations in New York. Dorticos arrived in the evening aboard a special Cuban airliner, and he and Castro sped from the airport to the Presidential Palace.

Before leaving New York Dorticos turned back questions about reports of the prisoners' imminent release with a "no comment."

Responsible sources in Havana had said that only one final meeting between Castro and Donovan stood in the way of freedom for the prisoners taken in the abortive Cuban invasion in April 1961. The informants said Donovan already had arranged for the prisoners' air transportation to Miami.

Terms of the prisoners' ransom have not been disclosed.

Castro's government had asked $62 million for all the prisoners taken in the invasion. About 60 have already been freed.

Donovan said when he left for Havana last month that he would offer Castro medicine and food in lieu of cash ransom.

U. S. Agencies Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interested U.S. government agencies maintained, on the whole, a tight but benevolent silence Tuesday about the privately conducted negotiations for release of 1,113 prisoners captured in last year's Cuban invasion attempt.

The government's role, if any, was a mystery. But officials obviously are informed of the progress of the negotiations between Prime Minister Fidel Castro and negotiator James B. Donovan, a New York attorney.

Indonesia Calls For Kennedy, Khrush Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Indonesia called Tuesday for a meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Berlin and related East-West issues, preferably at the United Nations during the present assembly session.

Sukardjo Wirjopranoto, Indonesia's permanent U.N. representative, told the 109-nation General Assembly that the forcible division of Germany, China, Korea and Viet Nam threaten world peace.

"The Berlin issue in particular, which is at the heart of the problem of a divided Germany, can at any moment plunge humanity into a nuclear holocaust," he said.

He expressed hope the leaders of the big powers will not let any opportunity go by without making a supreme effort to ease the dangerous situation prevailing in the divided nations.

There have been published reports that Khrushchev may come to the United Nations after the U.S. elections early in November. A meeting with Kennedy was described as likely if there is no further deepening of the Berlin crisis by that time. No official statement has been issued either in Moscow or Washington on the subject.

The assembly also heard Algerian Prime Minister Ahmed Ben Bella pledge his country to a policy of non-alignment in the East-West cold war, and voice firm determination to work for the freedom of all areas of the world still under colonial domination.

Kennedy, French Minister Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville conferred for an hour and 15 minutes with President Kennedy Tuesday on the problems of Berlin, Laos, the Congo, and Cuba.

Couve de Murville would make no comment as he left the White House. He told newsmen that U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk would have a great deal to tell them, but Rusk, who had been in on the talks, did not wait to see reporters.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger named the four principal topics Kennedy and the French foreign minister had discussed.

Edith Piaf Wed To Young Protege

Anti-Trust Suit Filed Against Three Oil Giants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A civil anti-trust suit was filed by the Justice Department Tuesday against Cities Service, Sinclair, and Richfield, three of the nation's largest oil companies.

The department said the suit accuses Cities Service and Sinclair of agreeing not to compete with Richfield or with each other in six Western states—California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Arizona.

Richfield agreed in return, it was alleged, not to compete with the other two companies in the rest of the country.

A department spokesman said the action in U.S. Dist. Court asks the court to order the three companies to stop allocating markets.

It asks further that Cities Service and Sinclair be directed to sell their Richfield stock holdings, the spokesman said, and that Cities Service and Sinclair directors be required to resign from Richfield's board of directors.

The suit named several directors of all three companies. Also named were two other companies —Empire Gas & Fuel Co. of New York, a subsidiary of Cities Service, and Sinclair Delaware Corp. of New York, a Sinclair subsidiary.

Directors named as defendants are:

B. S. Watson, Cities Service board chairman and a member of the Richfield board.

J. Ed Warren, Cities Service president and member of Cities Service and Richfield boards.

H. L. O'Brien, Cities Service general counsel and a member of the Cities Service and Richfield boards.

P. C. Spencer, Sinclair board chairman and Richfield board member.

E. L. Steiniger, Sinclair president and member of the Sinclair and Richfield boards.

All U.S. Forces Will Withdraw From Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials said Tuesday the remaining 3,000 American troops and airmen in Thailand will be pulled out. No date was set for the withdrawal.

Officials said the phase-out operation will not take place until after further consultation with the Thai government.

The withdrawal movement was linked with what Communist forces in neighboring Laos do.

If several thousand Communist North Vietnamese troops remaining in the Communist-controlled areas of Laos are pulled out, there would be no need to maintain the American reinforcements on the Thai border, authoritative sources said.

However, if the Communist forces should give cause for renewed vigilance, the sources said, the U.S. "Cacti" Battle Group and supporting air squadrons would continue their patrol activities and probably be reinforced.

Twin Polaris Firing Reported

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Polaris-packing nuclear submarine recently launched two missiles within minutes in a demonstration of the craft's quick-strike ability, reliable sources reported Tuesday.

The submarine was not on the Atlantic Missile Range when the firings were conducted, the sources said, but launched the rockets from a point in the ocean into an impact area on the range where the accuracy could be measured.

The missiles were aimed at a so-called splash net near the West Indies island of Antigua, more than 1,000 miles from the submarine. A series of electronic hydrophones planted beneath the net's Atlantic surface records nose cone impacts and provides precise landing accuracy.

Refugee Death Arouses Berlin Crowd's Anger

BERLIN (UPI)—A West Berlin crowd shouted "murderers—murderers!" at the Communists Tuesday as a diver recovered the body of an East German refugee who drowned after he was shot by Red gunfire in a bold attempt to swim a border river to West Berlin.

The mid-stream slaying of the refugee aroused new anger among West Berliners just a day after the Soviets summarily rejected a Western protest against Communist refusal to let a British ambulance go to the aid of a refugee wounded in an escape attempt last week.

Shortly after the new incident, an American spokesman said the chairman of the U.S. Policy Planning Council, Walt W. Rostow, will visit Berlin next week. Rostow will speak on "the present stage of the cold war" at the Free University here and may also look over Allied problems in West Berlin at first-hand, the spokesman said.

The East German plucked from the river Tuesday morning after a nightlong search by Communist patrol boats was the 44th refugee known to have been killed while trying to flee to West Berlin since the Communists put up their anti-refugee wall.

The man was swimming the River Spree on the border of the American sector when Communist searchlights spotted him and bullets struck him when he had crossed more than half the river, 150 yards wide at the spot.

The East German suddenly threw up his arms and sank as a gunbattle broke out between Communist border guards and West Berlin police after some of the Red bullets started hitting West Berlin territory.

Fog interrupted the search for the man's body until after dawn when Red patrol boats resumed the search.

'God Pulled Me Through,' Says Ex-Red Captive

WASHINGTON (AP)—"God is the one that pulled me through."

So spoke Army Sgt. Orville R. Ballenger, 28, of his 16-month ordeal as a captive of the Communist Pathet Lao.

Ballenger and two others—Army Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey and National Broadcasting Co. cameraman Grant F. Wolfkill—appeared at a news conference Tuesday to tell their stories for the first time since they were freed by the Laotians in mid-August.

Looking recovered, they spoke without emotion of being confined in cramped, often lightless huts, subsisting on pebble-filled rice, of being brutalized by gun-toting guards and questioned repeatedly by Russians, North Vietnamese and other Communists.

Hunt Widened For Escaped Trunk Slayer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The seventh escape of trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd from the Arizona State Hospital touched off a methodical search Tuesday in which police questioned friends who aided her in past flights.

She has been a patient of the hospital for 30 years, first escaping in 1939.

Now 57, her hair tinted red, the one-time "tiger woman" simply walked out an unlocked door in a non-security section of the state mental hospital Monday night. There were no clues as to her whereabouts, and local officers ordered a two-state search extending to California.

However, in most previous escapes—including the last in November, 1952—Mrs. Judd has been found a relatively short distance from the state hospital in East Phoenix. No violence resulted from her previous flights, and Hospital Supt. Dr. Samuel Wick said "we do not consider the patient dangerous."

But in 1930, Mrs. Judd—police charged—shot both Hedvig Samuelson and Ann Leroi in a room of a Phoenix home. She shipped both bodies by trunk to Los Angeles, dismembering one. She was sentenced to die for murder, but in 1932 was judged insane and committed to the state hospital.

Vatican Invites Orthodox East To Observe Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — An extraordinary Vatican move to bring Russian Orthodox Church observers to the Roman Catholic ecumenical council was disclosed Tuesday. Results of the overture remained uncertain.

"Everything is now in suspense," a Vatican spokesman said.

Indications were that the leaders of most Eastern Orthodox churches, comprising about 200 million Christians, were planning their response in unison, and the final word was still to come.

The council, first of its kind in a century, opens Thursday.

Prelates of the Church of Rome and of the Orthodox East have not sat together in council since the schism of more than nine centuries ago.

An official Vatican announcement said that the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jan Willebrands, Dutch secretary of the Vatican's Secretariat for Christian Unity, spent six days in Moscow in a last-minute approach to the Orthodox patriarchate there.

Considering the keen tensions between Rome and Communist Russia, the fact that such extensive efforts were made to bring the Russian churchmen here was considered a dramatic note in itself.

The Roman Catholic Church's position in Communist-ruled countries, including the Soviet Union, is expected to be one of the topics discussed by the council.

Playboy Jailed, Fined For Evasion Of Taxes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Playboy Lyndon Durant, who gave away mink coats, Hawaiian cruises and fancy autos to his girl friends, was sentenced Tuesday to 60 days in jail and fined $15,000 for income tax evasion.

U.S. District Judge Hubert L. Will passed sentence on the free-spending manufacturer but permitted Durant a 30-day stay of execution to permit him to arrange his business affairs.

The government said Durant paid $193,949 in income taxes during the years 1954-56 on reported income of $410,481. The government charged his income for the period actually was $620,939 for which the income tax would have been $336,663.

Italian Hospital Workers Strike

ROME (AP)—A five-day strike began Tuesday at Italy's state hospitals.

Nurses, technicians and maintenance workers started a 48-hour walkout for better pay and working conditions. Doctors remained but said they would strike for three days beginning Thursday. Services were set up to handle emergency cases.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance was reported "quite comfortable and much improved" at Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday. Vance entered the hospital Monday for therapy and observation on a back injury.

Pastor's Daughter Given School Shorts Ultimatum

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A minister's daughter who thinks it's morally wrong to show her bare knees has until this weekend to agree to wear shorts in gym classes at Springfield Township High School.

If Judy Rae Bushong, 16, sticks to her decision not "to waver from what I believe in," the suspension school authorities handed her Sept. 24 will become a permanent expulsion.

The school board decided Monday night unanimously to expel the freshman unless she wears the traditional gym uniform of other girl students. Judy wants to wear pedal pushers, which would cover her knees.

Her mother and father, the Rev. Herbert Bushong, pastor of the nondenominational Church of Soul's Harbor, say they live by the old version of the King James Bible. They claim it's sinful for a girl to wear shorts in public, although they acknowledged they had worn bathing suits in public places in recent years until they became ashamed of the practice and stopped it.

James Stone, high school principal, said the school board would review any expulsion in Judy's case. He said in a similar case a few years back a girl had protested, then agreed to wear the gym suit. He described the suits as ranging from ones billowing loosely a few inches above the knees to tighter-fitting ones high up on the thighs.

Kennedy, French Minister Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville conferred for an hour and 15 minutes with President Kennedy Tuesday on the problems of Berlin, Laos, the Congo, and Cuba.

Couve de Murville would make no comment as he left the White House. He told newsmen that U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk would have a great deal to tell them, but Rusk, who had been in on the talks, did not wait to see reporters.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger named the four principal topics Kennedy and the French foreign minister had discussed.

Anti-Trust Suit Filed Against Three Oil Giants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A civil anti-trust suit was filed by the Justice Department Tuesday against Cities Service, Sinclair, and Richfield, three of the nation's largest oil companies.

The department said the suit accuses Cities Service and Sinclair of agreeing not to compete with Richfield or with each other in six Western states—California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Arizona.

Richfield agreed in return, it was alleged, not to compete with the other two companies in the rest of the country.

A department spokesman said the action in U.S. Dist. Court asks the court to order the three companies to stop allocating markets.

It asks further that Cities Service and Sinclair be directed to sell their Richfield stock holdings, the spokesman said, and that Cities Service and Sinclair directors be required to resign from Richfield's board of directors.

The suit named several directors of all three companies. Also named were two other companies—Empire Gas & Fuel Co. of New York, a subsidiary of Cities Service, and Sinclair Delaware Corp. of New York, a Sinclair subsidiary.

Directors named as defendants are:

B. S. Watson, Cities Service board chairman and a member of the Richfield board.

J. Ed Warren, Cities Service president and member of Cities Service and Richfield boards.

H. L. O'Brien, Cities Service general counsel and a member of the Cities Service and Richfield boards.

P. C. Spencer, Sinclair board chairman and Richfield board member.

E. L. Steiniger, Sinclair president and member of the Sinclair and Richfield boards.

Twin Polaris Firing Reported

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Polaris-packing nuclear submarine recently launched two missiles within minutes in a demonstration of the craft's quick-strike ability, reliable sources reported Tuesday.

The submarine was not on the Atlantic Missile Range when the firings were conducted, the sources said, but launched the rockets from a point in the ocean into an impact area on the range where the accuracy could be measured.

The missiles were aimed at a so-called splash net near the West Indies island of Antigua, more than 1,000 miles from the submarine. A series of electronic hydrophones planted beneath the net's Atlantic surface records nose cone impacts and provides precise landing accuracy.

Refugee Death Arouses Berlin Crowd's Anger

BERLIN (UPI)—A West Berlin crowd shouted "murderers—murderers!" at the Communists Tuesday as a diver recovered the body of an East German refugee who drowned after he was shot by Red gunfire in a bold attempt to swim a border river to West Berlin.

The mid-stream slaying of the refugee aroused new anger among West Berliners just a day after the Soviets summarily rejected a Western protest against Communist refusal to let a British ambulance go to the aid of a refugee wounded in an escape attempt last week.

Shortly after the new incident, an American spokesman said the chairman of the U.S. Policy Planning Council, Walt W. Rostow, will visit Berlin next week. Rostow will speak on "the present stage of the cold war" at the Free University here and may also look over Allied problems in West Berlin at first-hand, the spokesman said.

The East German plucked from the river Tuesday morning after a nightlong search by Communist patrol boats was the 44th refugee known to have been killed while trying to flee to West Berlin since the Communists put up their anti-refugee wall.

The man was swimming the River Spree on the border of the American sector when Communist searchlights spotted him and bullets struck him when he had crossed more than half the river, 150 yards wide at the spot.

The East German suddenly threw up his arms and sank as a gunbattle broke out between Communist border guards and West Berlin police after some of the Red bullets started hitting West Berlin territory.

Fog interrupted the search for the man's body until after dawn when Red patrol boats resumed the search.

Hunt Widened For Escaped Trunk Slayer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The seventh escape of trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd from the Arizona State Hospital touched off a methodical search Tuesday in which police questioned friends who aided her in past flights.

She has been a patient of the hospital for 30 years, first escaping in 1939.

Now 57, her hair tinted red, the one-time "tiger woman" simply walked out an unlocked door in a non-security section of the state mental hospital Monday night. There were no clues as to her whereabouts, and local officers ordered a two-state search extending to California.

However, in most previous escapes—including the last in November, 1952—Mrs. Judd has been found a relatively short distance from the state hospital in East Phoenix. No violence resulted from her previous flights, and Hospital Supt. Dr. Samuel Wick said "we do not consider the patient dangerous."

But in 1930, Mrs. Judd—police charged—shot both Hedvig Samuelson and Ann Leroi in a room of a Phoenix home. She shipped both bodies by trunk to Los Angeles, dismembering one. She was sentenced to die for murder, but in 1932 was judged insane and committed to the state hospital.

Vatican Invites Orthodox East To Observe Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — An extraordinary Vatican move to bring Russian Orthodox Church observers to the Roman Catholic ecumenical council was disclosed Tuesday. Results of the overture remained uncertain.

"Everything is now in suspense," a Vatican spokesman said.

Indications were that the leaders of most Eastern Orthodox churches, comprising about 200 million Christians, were planning their response in unison, and the final word was still to come.

The council, first of its kind in a century, opens Thursday.

Prelates of the Church of Rome and of the Orthodox East have not sat together in council since the schism of more than nine centuries ago.

An official Vatican announcement said that the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jan Willebrands, Dutch secretary of the Vatican's Secretariat for Christian Unity, spent six days in Moscow in a last-minute approach to the Orthodox patriarchate there.

Considering the keen tensions between Rome and Communist Russia, the fact that such extensive efforts were made to bring the Russian churchmen here was considered a dramatic note in itself.

The Roman Catholic Church's position in Communist-ruled countries, including the Soviet Union, is expected to be one of the topics discussed by the council.

All U.S. Forces Will Withdraw From Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials said Tuesday the remaining 3,000 American troops and airmen in Thailand will be pulled out. No date was set for the withdrawal.

Officials said the phase-out operation will not take place until after further consultation with the Thai government.

The withdrawal movement was linked with what Communist forces in neighboring Laos do.

If several thousand Communist North Vietnamese troops remaining in the Communist-controlled areas of Laos are pulled out, there would be no need to maintain the American reinforcements on the Thai border, authoritative sources said.

However, if the Communist forces should give cause for renewed vigilance, the sources said, the U.S. "Cacti" Battle Group and supporting air squadrons would continue their patrol activities and probably be reinforced.

Playboy Jailed, Fined For Evasion Of Taxes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Playboy Lyndon Durant, who gave away mink coats, Hawaiian cruises and fancy autos to his girl friends, was sentenced Tuesday to 60 days in jail and fined $15,000 for income tax evasion.

U.S. District Judge Hubert L. Will passed sentence on the free-spending manufacturer but permitted Durant a 30-day stay of execution to permit him to arrange his business affairs.

The government said Durant paid $193,949 in income taxes during the years 1954-56 on reported income of $410,481. The government charged his income for the period actually was $620,939 for which the income tax would have been $336,663.

Italian Hospital Workers Strike

ROME (AP)—A five-day strike began Tuesday at Italy's state hospitals.

Nurses, technicians and maintenance workers started a 48-hour walkout for better pay and working conditions. Doctors remained but said they would strike for three days beginning Thursday. Services were set up to handle emergency cases.

'God Pulled Me Through,' Says Ex-Red Captive

WASHINGTON (AP)—"God is the one that pulled me through."

So spoke Army Sgt. Orville R. Ballenger, 28, of his 16-month ordeal as a captive of the Communist Pathet Lao.

Ballenger and two others—Army Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey and National Broadcasting Co. cameraman Grant F. Wolfkill—appeared at a news conference Tuesday to tell their stories for the first time since they were freed by the Laotians in mid-August.

Looking recovered, they spoke without emotion of being confined in cramped, often lightless huts, subsisting on pebble-filled rice, of being brutalized by gun-toting guards and questioned repeatedly by Russians, North Vietnamese and other Communists.

Pastor's Daughter Given School Shorts Ultimatum

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A minister's daughter who thinks it's morally wrong to show her bare knees has until this weekend to agree to wear shorts in gym classes at Springfield Township High School.

If Judy Rae Bushong, 16, sticks to her decision not "to waver from what I believe in," the suspension school authorities handed her Sept. 24 will become a permanent expulsion.

The school board decided Monday night unanimously to expel the freshman unless she wears the traditional gym uniform of other girl students. Judy wants to wear pedal pushers, which would cover her knees.

Her mother and father, the Rev. Herbert Bushong, pastor of the nondenominational Church of Soul's Harbor, say they live by the old version of the King James Bible. They claim it's sinful for a girl to wear shorts in public, although they acknowledged they had worn bathing suits in public places in recent years until they became ashamed of the practice and stopped it.

James Stone, high school principal, said the school board would review any expulsion in Judy's case. He said in a similar case a few years back a girl had protested, then agreed to wear the gym suit. He described the suits as ranging from ones billowing loosely a few inches above the knees to tighter-fitting ones high up on the thighs.

Arbitration Board Rules Railway May Eliminate Obsolete Telegrapher Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a major ruling on the railroad "featherbedding" issue, an arbitration board decreed Tuesday that Chicago & North Western Railway may eliminate telegraphy jobs on 90 days notice.

The binding decision, involving this and three other job security points, formally closed a five-year dispute between the nation's third largest rail carrier and the Order of the Railway Telegraphers (ORT).

Federal officials who helped bring about the settlement have predicted that the terms will provide guidelines for quickly ending similar disputes involving other major rail lines.

The four job security questions were submitted to the arbitration board Sept. 28, after the union agreed to halt a 30-day strike that brought economic hardship to a big section of the Middle West.

Tuesday's ruling was by Sylvester Garrett, chief arbitrator of U.S. Steel Corp., the neutral member of the arbitration board. The other members — ORT President George E. Leighty and railway board Chairman Ben W. Heineman — left the decision to him when they could not agree on the issues.

Heineman concurred in Garrett's decision on all four points. Leighty agreed only with the provision for a 90-day notice for job elimination.

The ruling represented a victory for the railroad in its insistence that it must be allowed to eliminate obsolete jobs if it is to modernize and remain in good economic health. At the same time, the telegraphers won many new benefits, including more compensation for loss of jobs or being thrown into lower - paid work.

Three Youths Meet Kennedy Through Hoax

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Three high school boys said Tuesday they bluffed past Secret Service guards with little white lies and broken English and inveigled Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., into introducing them to President Kennedy as "German exchange students."

They said the President greeted them warmly, shook their hands and told them: "Welcome to this country."

Humphrey and the Secret Service disputed the teen-agers' story. Humphrey said the story "borders upon fiction and fantasy" and was "neither good humor nor good manners."

Humphrey said at no time was he, the Secret Service or anyone else "taken in" by the students. A Secret Service spokesman said the boys did not gain access to Kennedy's suite or to a $500 a couple cocktail party.

Bill Watters, Roger Magnuson and Daniel Norstadt, all 17 years old and students at Johnson High School in St. Paul, said they crashed the gates of the presidential entourage Saturday during the President's overnight stay at the Leamington Hotel here.

All it took, they said, was their best "German accent"—admittedly none too good—a few little fibs and a lot of nerve.

Watters, speaking for the trio, said Humphrey introduced them to the President outside a room where the dressy reception was being held "and the President was sincere when he welcomed us to this country."

"We were not trying to make fun of the President or Senator Humphrey or anyone else," Watters said. "It wasn't a joke, really."

"We just wanted to see the President," he said.

Watters stuck to the story despite Humphrey's criticism in Washington of students "who were given the courtesy of meeting the President."

"We told Humphrey we were German exchange students and Humphrey introduced us to the President as German exchange students," he said. "We never claimed we got into the President's suite and never claimed we got into the cocktail party."

Schirra Hopes Cooper Will Be Next In Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP—Astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. flew here Tuesday, and Schirra told newsmen: "I hope soon to be working for Gordon."

Schirra, who last week carried the U.S. banner on its longest manned space flight, made it clear he is pulling for Cooper to be tapped for the next flight. This will be an 18-orbit, full-day voyage scheduled for early next year.

"We haven't got the word yet, of course," Schirra said, "but Gordon is ready to go. I hope we can swap places next trip."

Cooper was backup pilot for Schirra's extremely successful six-orbit mission last Wednesday.

B&O Head Sees Possible Rail Nationalization

BALTIMORE (AP) — The United States' railroad system may have to be nationalized unless there are major changes in events, Jervis Langdon, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said Tuesday.

Speaking at a luncheon at the annual meeting of the American Association of Port Authorities, Langdon said all port authorities have a stake in developing the "most efficient inland transportation system that can be attained."

"For how else," he asked, "can we hope to offset, at least in part, the lower ocean costs of other nations in the race for the survival of the free world?"

The B & O president said in the noon speech at Dundalk Marine Terminal three conditions must be met before the proper place of railroads in the economy can be determined:

1. "An opportunity for each form of transportation to employ its cost and service advantages in the race for competitive traffic — an opportunity that would be provided by the legislation implementing President Kennedy's recent transportation message.

2. "An opportunity for. . .such consolidations and coordinations as will increase (the rails) efficiency and thus serve the public interest.

3. "The prompt imposition of fully compensatory charges for the use of public transportation facilities, such as highways and waterways, for the purpose of transferring to users of transportation that part of the nation's transportation bill heeretofore absorbed by taxpayers."

Drummond Pleads Innocent In Spy Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—Navy Yeoman 1.C. Nelson C. Drummond Tuesday pleaded innocent to passing American defense secrets to members of the Soviet U.N. delegation.

Drummond, 33, was held in $100,000 bail and was scheduled to be tried Oct. 29.

Last week he was indicted by a federal grand jury.

Drummond was arrested Sept. 29 as he met with two members of the Soviet delegation in Larchmont, N.Y. The two Russians subsequently left the United States after the U.S. State Department protested their activities to the United Nations.

Maryland Tourism To Get Boost At N.Y. Fair

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—An official of the New York World's Fair said Tuesday the fair will provide Maryland with "the best advertisement for tourism that this country can provide for years to come."

It is up to the state, he said, to capitalize on this opportunity and to make visitors want to come back once they have arrived.

William E. Potter, a retired major general and executive vice president of the 1964-65 world's fair, addressed the Governor's Conference on Travel Development.

He said Maryland was "early in the game" in selecting a site at the fair for its restaurant exhibit and has one of the choicest sites of any state. It will be immediately next to the federal exhibit which will attract millions of visitors, Potter said.

"Your restaurants are famous. Your history is famous. Your clams give fame to New England," Potter said. The latter was a joking reference to the large shipments of Chesapeake clams to New England, where they are packaged and marketed as New England clams.

"You have here all it takes to attract vacationers, but you've got to advertise it," Potter said.

The roofline sweeps straight back instead of sloping off. That means ample headroom in back, not just in front. There's more legroom and footroom, too. The seats are chair-high whether you choose a model with sofa style, buckets, or fold-down center arm rest in front. Plus, you get the most luxurious interiors in the field, a smooth torsion-bar ride, a thrifty Six or quick, slick V8. Little wonder, people get carried away . . . especially now that every Dodge is backed by a revolutionary 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*! See your Dodge Dealer.

*Your authorized Dodge Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts; torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings—provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Dodge Certified Car Care schedules. Factory approved remanufactured parts may be used for replacement.

Laughter, they say, is good for the soul. According to some doctors it's good for the body, too, since it relieves tension and stimulates many body functions. Good to know that when you make your baby laugh, you help tone up his whole system.

Question and answer dept. Frequent question asked by first-time mothers: "Why does baby need more than milk the first few months?" While milk is the best-known, almost complete food, it does not supply iron or vitamin C. Both cereals and juices are specially prepared for babies. Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Whenever a page is missing from our newspaper I know my wife didn't want me to see something in your column. Naturally, my curiosity gets the best of me. I want to see what she is hiding, so I go out and buy another paper. This evening it happened again. I asked my wife in feigned innocence what happened to part of the paper. She said she had torn out a recipe.

I went out after supper and bought a paper. Sure enough, your column had a letter in it from a woman who wanted to know if a wife should pick up after her husband. She had complained because his clothes were all over the house, bath towels were on the floor, etc. You took the wind out of her sails by telling her to pick up after him and do it cheerfully. You said it wasn't worth fighting about, and that it took less energy to pick up a few things than to fight about it.

I showed the column to my wife and she replied, "Yeah, well I'll bet Ann doesn't pick up after her husband."

This letter is to ask you to answer her question. How about it?

—D. L. H.

DEAR D. L. H.: I've been picking up after my husband for 24 years and I hope I can do it for at least another 24.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a little late getting into the fray, but I hope you'll print my letter anyway.

Someone suggested that perhaps the reason physicians refuse to respond to the familiar cry, "Is there a doctor in the house," is because they fear a malpractice suit if the patient dies.

The idea that patients turn on their rescuers with law suits is pure poppycock. Eleven states now have a "Good Samaritan Law" which exempts doctors from liability when giving free, emergency service. In most states the law has been vetoed because it is unnecessary. An official A.M.A. study failed to turn up a single suit arising from roadside emergency treatment. A spot-check of state medical societies uncovered only two such suits and they were unsuccessful.

There have been, however, a number of malpractice suits arising from hospital emergency room treatment. These suits have made some doctors leary of administering on-the-spot first aid. Perhaps this is what all the yakking is about. I thought you'd like to know.

YOUR MEDICAL SPY

DEAR SPY: Thanks for the G2. Another spy informs that a number of malpractice suits are filed and then withdrawn when it becomes apparent they can't get off the ground. Opportunists who think they can put the squeeze on a well-meaning physician find they are a poor match for the medical society's attorneys.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I feel like a fool having to write for advice but I'm beginning to doubt my own judgement.

I'm a career woman and a widow who has been going with a man for three years. He has told me he is divorced. When I ask questions about his former wife he clams up and the evening is spoiled so now I studiously avoid the subject.

In all the time we've been going together he has never given me his phone number. I have yet to meet a single member of his family although I know he has a brother and two sisters in town as well as parents. He says he will marry me when he gets a few of his financial problems settled. I'm beginning to get suspicious.

Why can't I phone him? Why has he never taken me to see his apartment? Why doesn't he introduce me to his family? What is he hiding?

PENNSIE PET

DEAR PET: Probably a wife and family. Get with it, Sister.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kennedy Speaks In Baltimore Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy's intensive drive for more Democrats in Congress brings him Wednesday night to the city that enabled him to carry Maryland in his own 1960 election.

Baltimore voters gave him a majority of 87,947. In all the rest of Maryland, 23 counties, Republican Richard M. Nixon won by 11,777 votes.

Maryland also was one of the primaries won by Kennedy in his uphill battle toward the Democratic nomination. His main opponent was Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore, and Kennedy outpolled him by a whopping 201,769 to 49,420.

Maryland will elect eight U.S. representatives and a U.S. senator Nov. 6. Six of the seven representatives have been Democrats and the eighth is a new seat for Maryland.

The Senate seat is being relinquished by John Marshall Butler, an out and out conservative, after two terms. The other Maryland Senate seat also has been held by a Republican since 1953.

The state administration for the next four years also is at stake in next month's election. Democratic Gov. J. Millard Tawes is seeking reelection as are fellow party members for comptroller and attorney general.

President Kennedy is scheduled to speak to a rally (8 p.m. EST) especially arranged for his appearance. The main Democratic fund raising dinner was held by Maryland Democrats last Wednesday and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was the speaker.

The President plans to fly by helicopter to Baltimore and ride in a three-mile motorcade through the city to the rally in a National Guard armory.

Labor leaders have promised to pack the place for the informal affair at which no seats will be reserved and no tickets needed for admission.

During the Maryland Democratic primary, leaders of the regional AFL-CIO supported an opponent of Tawes. But they are supporting him in the general election.

Two groups at odds over racial integration had announced previously they would picket the armory.

The Congress on Racial Equality called off its demonstration Tuesday because "he took a firm public stand in protecting the rights of the Negro in the Oxford, Miss., crisis."

Walter Carter, local CORE chairman, in a telegram to the President stated he still regretted that he has not prohibited discrimination in federal housing.

A segregationist group known as the Fighting American Nationalists (FAN) had declared it would picket President Kennedy because it considers he has gone too far in the area of civil rights.

Probe Clears Montgomery Council Head

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—David L. Cahoon, president of the Montgomery County Council, was cleared of conflict-of-interest charges by a bipartisan committee Tuesday.

After six weeks of investigation, the three-man committee told the council today it had found "no evidence of facts to support such a charge, and it therefore concludes that. . .Cahoon has not acted in conflict with the public interest and that he has not violated the code of governmental ethics."

The accusations stemmed from the county's problems involving water contamination in some areas.

The committee was appointed at the request of Cahoon, a Democrat, after Charles S. Bresler, a Republican candidate for the house of delegates, said Cahoon had sold property in Potomac, a Washington suburban area, that was proved later to be unsuitable for development with private wells and septic tanks.

The land apparently had been approved for septic tanks by a county health department inspector at one time.

Julius U. Hoke, chairman of the committee, said the three members agreed unanimously that Cahoon had not used his public office for private gain.

The report said the 29 acres involved had been owned by Cahoon, his wife and her family and were sold on March 12, 1958, "more than eight months before Cahoon became a member of the council, more than seven months before he was elected to the council, and more than two months before he became a candidate in the general election."

Troopers Seize Two Fugitives

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Two state troopers climbed into a hayloft Tuesday and seized two escaped convicts accused of blackjacking a police officer.

The fugitives, covered with hay up to their necks, made no attempt to use a shotgun and revolver which Troopers Dave Summers and Jack Hanlon took from them.

The prisoners, Richard Allen Stump, 28, and Richard E. Goodrich, 30, were brought here to face charges of robbery and murderous assault. They escaped last week from Rockview Correctional Institution in Pennsylvania.

Lt. Ralph Hoffa, 48, slugged with his own blackjack Monday night, was reported "fairly good." He was struck five times, one blow tearing a deep gash over his right eye.

The men were hiding in a barn on a farm 20 miles south of here and three-quarters of a mile from the wooded area where more than a hundred state and local police had been hunting them.

Both fugitives were barefooted.

The men who assaulted Lt. Hoffa, when he stopped them for questioning, had fled in a car stolen Saturday in Lancaster, Pa. It was found abandoned three-fourths of a mile from the barn where Stump and Goodrich were caught today.

Dorchester County Ends Furniture Tax

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Dorchester County Commissioners have voted to abolish the household furniture tax effective Jan. 1.

Dorchester is one of the last Maryland counties which still retains the tax levied against the household effects of its citizens. The repeal was approved Tuesday.

The tax produced $38,000 in county revenue each year in Dorchester and an additional sum for the city of Cambridge which has a similar tax based on county assessment figures.

Killer Gets Mental Exam

BALTIMORE (AP) —A California prison probationer has been committed to a state hospital for a mental examination after pleading insanity Monday to charges of fatally shooting a Baltimore policeman.

Two court appointed lawyers for Roy Allen Nixt contended in special pleas that he is innocent because he is insane now and was at the time of the shooting.

Judge Michael J. Manley ordered the mental check for the 41-year-old Californian at the recommendation of the court psychiatrist.

Nixt is accused of shooting Patrolman Edward J. Kowalewski July 17 while he was on parole from Folsom Prison. Nixt had served 10 years of a life sentence for armed robbery.

Nixt is also charged with shooting and wounding a Washington, D.C. cab driver, Raymond Rich. Rich said Nixt engaged him to drive him to Baltimore from Washington.

The patrolman was killed as he was investigating the sound of revolver shots from Rich's cab.

Commercial S And L Receiver Appointed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Commercial Savings and Loan Association was placed in receivership Tuesday by Judge Reuben Oppenheimer of Baltimore Circuit Court.

Judge Oppenheimer appointed William J. McCarthy, an attorney who formerly served as an assistant attorney general, as receiver to close out the firm's affairs.

The action came on a petition filed by Franklin Goldstein, temporary receiver, and Albert W. Ward, administrator of the savings and loan regulatory law, through their attorneys.

Commercial has been in temporary receivership since last June 13.

Fairchild Receives Missile Contract

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Aircraft-Missiles Division of Fairchild Stratos Corp. announced Tuesday it has won a Department of Defense Air Force missile contract.

The Fairchild Corp. and the Aeronutronic Division of the Ford Motor Co. have been selected to build the re-entry vehicle and aerospace ground equipment for the Air Force's new Mobile Medium Range Ballistic Missile.

"We have won our first major competition in the space systems field," said L. B. Richardson Jr., general manager of the Fairchild Aircraft Missile Division.

The re-entry system contract with the Air Force Systems Command covers the new missile "program definition" phase, Richardson said, and will require four to six months to complete.

For distribution in the national school lunch program, the Department of Agriculture announces plans to buy 25 million pounds of frozen ground beef. School wasn't like that in our day—imagine all that hamburger! Hmm-yumm!

UNICEF Campaign Will Be Conducted

The UNICEF campaign will be conducted again this year in the Cumberland area, according to Mrs. Henry T. Pyles, recently appointed as chairman of the project in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Established by the United Nations Assembly in 1946, and made a permanent part of the UN in 1955, UNICEF is the largest international organization whose work is devoted entirely to the welfare of children.

The UNICEF campaign, according to Mrs. Pyles, is based on the idea of "treating" rather than "tricking" during the Halloween observance. Money collected is used to feed, cloth and provide medical care for children in unimproved or war-devastated countries.

Last year, $1,821.81 was collected in Allegany County; $393.50 in Garrett County, and $158 in nearby Ridgeley, Fort Ashby and Paw Paw, Mrs. Pyles reports. The campaign usually is sponsored by women's clubs, church organizations and other civic groups.

In appealing for wider support of the UNICEF objectives, Mrs. Pyles said communities or organizations that have not yet participated in the drive can contact her for information at her home, 236 Glenn Street, or by calling 722-6709.

Selected as regional chairmen for the campaign are the following persons:

Mrs. A. G. Moore, all of Cumberland west of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Mrs. Blanche Speir, all of the city east of the railroad and north of Williams Street; Mrs. Jean Dicken, from Williams Street south to the B&O. Rev. Harold R. McClay and Rev. C. W. Tinsman, from the B&O south to the city limits.

Community chairmen include Mrs. Isabelle Nightengale, Lonaconing; Mrs. Frank Byer, LaVale; Rev. Richard W. Barley, Bowling Green; Kenneth Sheetz, Rawlings; Mrs. Jack Ewald, Flintstone; Miss Debbie Withrow, Bedford Road; Mrs. John W Lancaster, Corriganville.

Miss Mary Lou Malcomb, North Branch; James Thrasher, Midland; Miss Mary Adams and Miss Mary Ritchie, Spring Gap; Miss Mary Catherine Lowery, Ellerslie; Mrs. George W. Buckalew, Frostburg; Dale H. Piercey, Sunnyside.

Rev. Alvin Latham, Oldtown, Floyd Powell, Ridgeley, and Mrs. Robert Fazenbaker, Garrett County, with Miss Ina Keister as publicity chairman for that region.

Mrs. Pyles pointed out that children participating in the UNICEF campaign are identified with tags which are furnished by the Maryland State UNICEF Council. Coin containers are provided by local milk companies, she added.

The sights will include the Potomac River Valley and the Deep Creek Lake area of Garrett County.

B&O officials said they expected 800 persons to board the special train in Baltimore and Silver Spring. It leaves Camden Station in Baltimore at 8 a.m. Sunday and stops at Silver Spring at 8:40 a.m. The train returns at Baltimore at 11 p.m.

The train will have 14 coaches, 3 dining cars and a lounge. A turkey dinner will be served on the return trip.

He has placed second in the State Soil and Water Conservation contest and first place in the regional public speaking contest.

The National FFA Convention is held annually at Kansas City. Delegates from all 50 states are in attendance. Purposes of the convention are to elect national officers, award the American Farmer Degree and select the Star American Farmer.

Storage Building Permit Issued

The City of Cumberland on Monday issued a permit to Robert C. Marker, 522 Williams Street, to build a metal garage and storage building at the rear of his property.

James G. Stevenson, clerk of the County Board of Commissioners, who issued the permits, said the homes will have concrete block foundations and composition roofs.

Sugar consumption in the U.S. has now reached 10 million tons a year. That's mighty sweet progress!

Allegany County Young Republican Club To Meet

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County will meet today at 8 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Gerald Barb, vice president and a member of the GOP State Central Committee, will give a liaison report on the committee activities. Kenneth Lowe, vice chairman of the campaign committee, will bring the club members up to date on the campaign plans and rallies.

William J. Sullivan, program chairman, announced that the program will consist of an explanation of the nine referendums that will appear on the November 6 ballot. Various speakers have been invited to explain these important referendums which consist of five proposed amendments to the Maryland Constitution and also four legislative acts that have been petitioned by the voters to be placed on the ballot.

A representative of COPE labor committee and a local businessman will speak on the referendum of Senate Bill 19, the proposed unemployment compensation law, law, one of the more controversial referendums. Another of the more controversial referendums. Another of the more important referendums to be discussed is the proposed Congressional redistricting bill.

UNICEF Campaign Will Be Conducted

The UNICEF campaign will be conducted again this year in the Cumberland area, according to Mrs. Henry T. Pyles, recently appointed as chairman of the project in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Established by the United Nations Assembly in 1946, and made a permanent part of the UN in 1955, UNICEF is the largest international organization whose work is devoted entirely to the welfare of children.

The UNICEF campaign, according to Mrs. Pyles, is based on the idea of "treating" rather than "tricking" during the Halloween observance. Money collected is used to feed, cloth and provide medical care for children in unimproved or war-devastated countries.

Last year, $1,821.81 was collected in Allegany County; $393.50 in Garrett County, and $158 in nearby Ridgeley, Fort Ashby and Paw Paw, Mrs. Pyles reports. The campaign usually is sponsored by women's clubs, church organizations and other civic groups.

In appealing for wider support of the UNICEF objectives, Mrs. Pyles said communities or organizations that have not yet participated in the drive can contact her for information at her home, 236 Glenn Street, or by calling 722-6709.

Selected as regional chairmen for the campaign are the following persons:

Mrs. A. G. Moore, all of Cumberland west of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Mrs. Blanche Speir, all of the city east of the railroad and north of Williams Street; Mrs. Jean Dicken, from Williams Street south to the B&O. Rev. Harold R. McClay and Rev. C. W. Tinsman, from the B&O south to the city limits.

Community chairmen include Mrs. Isabelle Nightengale, Lonaconing; Mrs. Frank Byer, LaVale; Rev. Richard W. Barley, Bowling Green; Kenneth Sheetz, Rawlings; Mrs. Jack Ewald, Flintstone; Miss Debbie Withrow, Bedford Road; Mrs. John W Lancaster, Corriganville.

Miss Mary Lou Malcomb, North Branch; James Thrasher, Midland; Miss Mary Adams and Miss Mary Ritchie, Spring Gap; Miss Mary Catherine Lowery, Ellerslie; Mrs. George W. Buckalew, Frostburg; Dale H. Piercey, Sunnyside.

Rev. Alvin Latham, Oldtown; Floyd Powell, Ridgeley, and Mrs. Robert Fazenbaker, Garrett County, with Miss Ina Keister as publicity chairman for that region.

Mrs. Pyles pointed out that children participating in the UNICEF campaign are identified with tags which are furnished by the Maryland State UNICEF Council. Coin containers are provided by local milk companies, she added.

The Baltimore & Ohio's annual autumn excursion through Western Maryland coincides with the state's Autumn Glory Festival, proclaimed by Gov. Tawes, from Oct. 1-14.

The sights will include the Potomac River Valley and the Deep Creek Lake area of Garrett County.

B&O officials said they expected 800 persons to board the special train in Baltimore and Silver Spring. It leaves Camden Station in Baltimore at 8 a.m. Sunday and stops at Silver Spring at 8:40 a.m. The train returns at Baltimore at 11 p.m.

The train will have 14 coaches, 3 dining cars and a lounge. A turkey dinner will be served on the return trip.

He has placed second in the State Soil and Water Conservation contest and first place in the regional public speaking contest.

The National FFA Convention is held annually at Kansas City. Delegates from all 50 states are in attendance. Purposes of the convention are to elect national officers, award the American Farmer Degree and select the Star American Farmer.

Allegany County Young Republican Club To Meet

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County will meet today at 8 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Robert L. Lewis, president, will preside and discuss the club's participation in the current election campaign.

Mrs. Sara Rank and Akbar Brinsmade will give a report on the dance sponsored by the GOP Club last Saturday.

Gerald Barb, vice president and a member of the GOP State Central Committee, will give a liaison report on the committee activities. Kenneth Lowe, vice chairman of the campaign committee, will bring the club members up to date on the campaign plans and rallies.

William J. Sullivan, program chairman, announced that the program will consist of an explanation of the nine referendums that will appear on the November 6 ballot. Various speakers have been invited to explain these important referendums which consist of five proposed amendments to the Maryland Constitution and also four legislative acts that have been petitioned by the voters to be placed on the ballot.

A representative of COPE labor committee and a local businessman will speak on the referendum of Senate Bill 19, the proposed unemployment compensation law, law, one of the more controversial referendums. Another of the more controversial referendums. Another of the more important referendums to be discussed is the proposed Congressional redistricting bill.

Sullivan said another portion of the program will be a discussion of the important campaigns issues and suggestions will be made as to how these issues can be communicated to the general public.

James Smith, membership chairman, urges all interested Republicans to attend today's session. Refreshments will be served.

Finan Will Speak On Same Program As Kennedy

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan will be one of the speakers at the meeting today in Baltimore's Fifth Regiment Armory with President Kennedy as the keynoter.

The entire speaking program will be heard state-wide via a Washington television station and carried over the local TV cable system. The speaking program starts at 9 p. m.

An interesting part of the Democratic rally is that the huge Armory is the place where Woodrow Wilson was nominated for President in 1912.

Upon recommendation of Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday placed George Howard Hetzel, of the department, on probationary status.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

Are You Brushing Your Teeth Properly?

There are times, I think, when parents could sit back and take a few lessons from their children. Tooth-brushing time is one of them . . . thanks to the work today's schools are doing in health education. Just about every member of the younger generation is exposed to an annual review—and demonstration—in tips on dental care that they might well share with their families.

If your youngsters were to quiz you on your toothbrushing method, what would your answers be? Sample questions . . . and what their answers should be . . . are these:

1. Why brush? To keep the interior of the mouth clean, of course. Removing food particles, polishing away food film, exercising and stimulating the gums top the list of ways to stem tooth decay and prevent mouth disorders.

2. When should the teeth be brushed? As soon as possible after eating is the best time for accomplishing the purpose of tooth-brushing. If immediate brushing is impossible, the next best thing is thorough rinsing of the mouth with water.

3. How to brush? Every dentist is a good instructor in the technique of toothbrushing . . . and is delighted to be asked his advice. Without a doubt, he'll cover these general points in greater detail:

a. Point the bristles of the brush toward the roots of the teeth and rotate the brush so that they sweep up or down toward the biting edge.

b. First, brush the chewing surfaces of both upper and lower teeth.

c. Next, brush the outside surfaces of the upper teeth, then the inside surfaces.

d. After that, brush the front and back surfaces of the lower teeth.

e. Brush until each area has been gone over at least ten times.

Sound nutrition is basic to beautiful teeth—not just during childhood but throughout life. Good reading for the entire family is the booklet, "Personality Plus Through Diet." For your copy, write to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 25c and your name and address.

Pollack Objects To Mention Of Crime Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jack Pollack protested Tuesday to mention of his criminal record by Newton I. Steers, Republican candidate for Maryland congressman-at-large.

Steers said in a television appearance Monday night that his Democratic opponent, Carlton R. Sickles, "refuses to repudiate the many, many-time convicted criminal Pollack."

"What my youthful misadventures have to do with the national issues facing the next congress is as unrelated as asking the voters not to support President Kennedy because his father years ago owned a distillery," Pollack retorted.

Pollack listed his criminal record as "several street fights, and a number of traffic violations, including several convictions for parking overtime and without parking lights.

He criticized Steers for what Pollack called a gutter-type campaign and described him in such words as "sanctimonious, self-righteous, pious, unctuous."

Steers has been asking Sickles why he will not repudiate support by Pollack, a Democratic leader in Northwest Baltimore. Sickles was on a primary ticket endorsed by Pollack. Sickles was the only winning member of the ticket opposed to the Gov. Tawes slate.

"I have not sought his (Pollack) support and I am not seeking it," Sickles said in reply. "I hope for the support of all Democrats."

Maryland Investors Up Mutual Fund Buying

Investors in Maryland purchased $12,191,000 of mutual fund shares during the first six months of this year, according to the Investment Company Institute. This shows an increase as compared with share purchases amounting to $10,772,000 during the first half of 1961.

Third among the states was Pennsylvania, with purchases for the first six months of this year amounting to $119,877,000, an increase of $27,716,000 over the $92,161,000 for the first half of 1961.

West Virginia purchasing declined by $191,000. During the first half of 1961, investors bought $4,424,000, but this dropped to $4,233,000 this year.

of Allegany County did not officially have one thing to do with the enactment of this law.

"It was the six-man delegation in the House, composed of four Republicans and two Democrats) and our own State Senator, Charles M. See, who voted for this enabling legislation.

"Did the Democratic - controlled board provide funds for the establishment of the college?" he queried, replying that the legislative act specifically provides "that the proceeds shall be expended for the conversion of Carver to a community college."

He said the Republican Party in Allegany County has always worked for the best school biuldings and facilities and for the enactment of laws to provide salaries which would attract the best teachers available.

Republican candidates for judges of the Orphans Court, said James G. Blair, Midland, are well qualified to serve citizens of Allegany County.

He said the record of Hugh Stevenson, now serving as chief judge of the court, is an open book and predicted the future service of Mr. Stevenson in the office will be "just as faithful and right as it has been in the past."

He said he was impressed with the background of his other mate, Howard W. Vandegrift, and of his business knowledge and his desire to win.

Of his own candidacy, Mr. Blair cited his background as a businessman and trial magistrate and pledged to serve the people well.

Donald W. Mason spoke on behalf of Sheriff Paul Haberlein, citing his "excellent" record of efficiency in running his office and the jail and also cited various recommendations made by grand juries.

How a Shell research team got 168.47 miles per gallon

A Shell research team drove this car to a Mileage Marathon record. They used the same Shell fuel that could be bought at Shell stations.

168 miles per gallon must be a world record. Here's how the record was made—and how a quiet marriage of careful driving and today's Super Shell can help you get better mileage.

Some years ago, a group of Shell scientists had a friendly argument. The gist of it: who could get the most miles from a gallon of gasoline. They decided to find out. And Shell's Mileage Marathon was born.

All contestants had to use the same gasoline anybody could buy at a Shell station. Beyond that, the Marathon had few rules. And ingenuity ran wild.

How the record was set

Here are some of the things that Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, the winning team, did to set their record.

None are recommended for informal marathons. But they do offer a few clues on how to get more miles per gallon.

• Berry and Schuette removed their engine cooling fan to save power and muffled their radiator to retain heat.

• They used tires worn smooth and pumped up to 50 pounds pressure to cut rolling friction to a minimum.

• On the road, they accelerated to 20 miles per hour, cut the ignition and rolled until speed dropped to 5 miles per hour. Then they repeated the cycle.

NOTE: they used a standard carburetor from an old one-cylinder engine.

Since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on public roads—and since most Marathon modifications are dangerous for normal use—you may wonder if Shell's Mileage Marathon had any point.

Indeed it did. In the months of preparations, every contestant learned a bit more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Knowledge of this sort gets passed along to you in the form of better Shell products for your car.

EXAMPLE: As a result of Shell's research studies, including many mileage tests, one of the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell is a mileage-booster called Platformate. This ingredient alone can release up to 8 percent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Result: extra mileage.

To help boost mileage even more, follow these driving tips from Berry and Schuette.

How you can save gasoline

1. Don't race your engine when standing still. Unnecessary engine speed is pure waste and takes you nowhere.

2. Avoid jackrabbit starts. Fast getaways waste gasoline and power.

3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 25 percent more gasoline at 65 mph than at 45 mph.

4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses extra fuel—without taking full advantage of the power it could generate.

5. Pace yourself in traffic. Don't be the fastest or the slowest. You'll just be trapped into wasteful spurts and slowdowns.

6. Keep tires up to their proper pressure. Soft tires can soak up power.

7. Ask your Shell dealer about these checks: Spark timing should be set correctly. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be cleaned regularly. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your cooling system thermostat must work right.

Motorists who follow these rules, and use Super Shell, can expect good mileage. Chances are, you can improve the mileage you are now getting. Now that you know how, why not give it a try?

Democratic 87th Congress Stabs Its Own President In The Back

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When the history of the 87th Congress is written it will undoubtedly show that Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader, is right in claiming that it was a Democratic Congress which stabbed its own President, John F. Kennedy, in the back.

But both historians and Charlie Halleck can go further and recount that part of the trouble was JFK's policy of being too nice to congressmen who were too nasty. He followed the policy of turning the other cheek to Congressmen who bit the hand that fed them.

There is no better illustration of this than the fact that Congress has been kept in session three extra days, largely because one of the President's best personal friends, dapper Sen. George Smathers of Florida, put up a roadblock against adjournment because he wanted to override an expected Presidential pocket veto on a pet pension bill for doctors and other professional men. Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia joined him — in order to get a U.S.-financed peanut laboratory in Georgia.

Smathers had voted with the doctors against medical care for elderly people who have a hard time paying their doctors' bills. Then he turned round and pushed a special pension bill permitting doctors and other self-employed, generally among the top-bracket citizens, to get special tax concessions for preferred pensions.

The bill will eat a further hole in the budget, and the treasury considers it so unjust that it has recommended a White House veto. But Senator Smathers, who has long campaigned for a balanced budget, announced last week he would hold the Congress in session until today so as to override any veto from his old friend and golfing partner, at whose wedding he served as usher.

Friendship Vs. Politics

The interesting thing about JFK is that he has turned the other cheek to Smathers for two long years. The more the debonair Senator kicks him on the legislative shins, the more his old golfing partner comes back smiling.

It's gotten to be a joke around Senate cloakrooms that the President's shins are black and blue —though not merely from Smathers. Other "loyal" Democrats, such as Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, have contributed to the bruises.

But Kerr doesn't come to White House breakfasts every week as does dapper George, and look affably across the breakfast table at the man he is about to kick shortly after he gets back to Capitol Hill. Smathers partakes of JFK's bacon and eggs, listens to the plans for pushing JFK's strategy, then takes off for the Senate and proceeds to oppose JFK's strategy whenever it will help — not his friend in the White House — but George Smathers of Florida.

Early in the Kennedy Administration, Smathers was considered "the man to see" if you wanted things done around the White House. He went every week end with JFK to Palm Beach, sometimes flying in the same plane. They played golf and lunched together.

Among other things, Kennedy appointed Smathers' ex-assistant, Grant Stockdale, Ambassador to Ireland, where the Mississippi-born Floridian was not a huge success, and has been replaced by the genial Irishman from Philadelphia, Matt McCloskey.

But after about nine months of patiently tolerating Smathers' biting the hand that fed him, the White House leaked word that Kennedy was "cooling" on his old friend. Whereupon the handsome Senator from Florida got an appointment with Kennedy in the private, upstairs part of the White House and called for a showdown.

He told friends later with some glee how he had informed Kennedy that he couldn't support him on everything and that Kennedy had said the "cooling off" report came from his staff and did not represent his own personal feelings.

After that Kennedy went further out of his way to feed the mouth that bit him. He journeyed all the way to Miami last Morch to speak before a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Smathers and raising money largely for Smathers' reelection — though he's assured of being reelected.

At Smathers' request he even invited Bill Dale of the First National Bank of Orlando, who has boasted he hasn't voted Democratic for years, for a cruise on the Honey Fitz. With him was Bill Thompson, president of the East Coast Railway, both friends of Smathers, and both men who helped swing Florida against Kennedy in 1960.

But despite this appeasement, Smathers has continued opposing Kennedy where it hurts most. He is the only regular Democratic Senator who has joined with irresponsible Senators in demanding that Kennedy take military action in Cuba — at a time when Kennedy urged the public not to rock the Cuban boat.

And today he has joined with Senator Russell, the peanut-pusher from Georgia, in keeping the Senate in session an extra week, so Smathers could override the expected pocket veto of his old friend whose breakfast he eats every Wednesday morning and at whose wedding he served.

Tories In Trouble After 12 Years

Britain's ruling Conservative Party meets for its annual conference by the sea today in a building alongside Happy Valley Road in the Welsh town of Llandudno. Yet, as the London Daily Mail (Conservative) drily commented, "the rank and file of the Conservative Party are fully alive to the fact that the party is nowhere near a happy valley."

All present signs give notice that the British public is wearying of a party that has been in power since 1950. Hailed only a few years ago for having lifted Britain to new heights of prosperity, the Macmillan government's economic policies are now under wide attack. Curbs on domestic spending and a wage freeze, initiated last year as part of a program to spur exports, have had a depressing impact on the economy as a whole. Some of Britain's resources are plainly being under-utilized and, as The Economist explained, "the continuing stagnation has become politically out of fashion."

The problem facing the Conservatives is to mold a forward-looking image out of speeches and action at the conference. Delegates have special cause for worry over the steady loss of support reflected in by-elections. Fortunes of the hitherto not highly regarded Liberal Party have been on the rise in these interim contests and there is talk that, after the next general election, the Liberals may hold the balance of power in Parliament between Conservatives and Laborites.

This sort of speculation seems premature because the Macmillan government is entitled to stay in office until the summer of 1964, barring defeat in a confidence vote in the House of Commons. All the same, the Conservatives are aware that something must be done before then to improve their chances. Macmillan showed fortitude at the contentious Commonwealth Ministers Conference last month in making clear his determination to lead Britain into the Common Market. But the Liberals already have gone him one better by suggesting a European parliament with wide powers.

Can A Governor Be Removed By Court Order?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Mississippi story — legally speaking — is just beginning to unfold one of its most important issues. Every state in the union could be affected. For the U. S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit, has really raised in the case of Governor Barnett of Mississippi the question of whether the governor of a state can be removed from office by court order on a contempt charge and subjected to a jail sentence, thus interfering with the exercise of his duties as the chief executive of a state.

For decades past the principle accepted by the federal and state courts has been that a president of the United States or the governor of a state can be removed from office only by the impeachment process. If the rule is reversed now by the Supreme Court of the United States — assuming that it will choose to hear the case at all — it would be possible for a private litigant hereafter to insist that a president or a governor appear in court and be subjected to cross-examination at the command of the court. Even Congressional committees could then order a president to appear before them, and, if he refused to do so, a judicial summons could be issued demanding that he show cause why he shouldn't be held in contempt. If he were adjudged in contempt he could then be imprisoned and thus removed from the office to which he had been elected.

It so happens that these very issues were discussed in July 1951 when a U.S. Senate Committee, investigating gambling practices in Florida, issued a subpoena ordering Governor Fuller Warren of Florida to appear and answer questions. Mr. Warren filed a comprehensive brief covering all the legal points, and, as a consequence, the Senate committee did not press for the enforcement of the subpena.

Past rulings indicate that, while a governor may ignore a court order so far as his personal appearance in court is concerned, nobody else in the state government can do so. Hence, a court can enjoin one or more state officials from carrying out any illegal act even if it is ordered officially by a governor. As for the governor, however, he is himself immune from arrest and punishment, the brief contends, because no court can remove a governor or interfere with his right to remain in office for the term for which he is elected. He can be removed only by impeachment by the state legislature as provides in the constitution of that state.

The brief points out that it doesn't make any difference whether the court order is served on a governor as an official or as an individual. It is contended that the court can issue such an order any time, but a governor or a president can ignore it without being compelled even to give any reason for his refusal.

When President Thomas Jefferson refused to respond to a federal court subpoena, Chief Justice Marshall of the Supreme Court of the United States upheld him, in an opinion written in behalf of the court, even though Mr. Jefferson gave no reason for his refusal to testify. In other cases in state courts, similar attempts by citizens to bring a governor personally into court under a court order to testify have been uniformly rebuffed. In one case—Thompson V. German Valley Railroad — the highest court of the state of New Jersey said:

"Such order ought not to be made against the executive of the state, because it might bring the executive in conflict with the judiciary. If the executive thinks he ought to testify, in compliance with the opinion, he will do so without order. If he thinks it to be his official duty, in protecting the rights and dignity of his office, he will not comply, even if directed b yan order. And, in his case, the court would hardly entertain proceedings to compel him by adjudging him in contempt. It will be presumed that the chief magistrate intends no contempt, but that his action is in acordance with his official duty."

The brief filed by Governor Warren of Florida said:

"No committee of the Congress of the United States, nor the Congress itself, has the power to compel the governor of a sovereign state to answer a subpoena and go to Washington, D. C., to testify conferning matters within his knowledge as governor.

"To recognize the power of a Congressional committee to compel the governor of a sovereign state to leave his state and appear before such committee in the nation's capital is to recognize the power of such a committee, at any moment it may elect, to determine whether or not the governor shall perform the duties of his office. . . .

"The recognition of such power in Congress is to admit that the power lies in one department of the federal government to utterly destroy the entire concept of dual sovereignty. . . ."

While the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has deferred until October 12 the hearing on whether the Governor of Mississippi has "purged" himself of alleged contempt, it looks as if the Department of Justice itself may be backing away from the test. If the proceedings are dropped, the episode will nevertheless remain as a species of potential blackmail that could be used upon occasion to enable the U.S. Department of Justice to intimidate the governor of any state.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

POLITICAL ISSUE—The three principal crisis areas in foreign relations are Cuba, Berlin and Viet Nam. In each area the crisis has a common source — unremitting pressure by the communist backed forces.

Congress backs presidential decisions and strategy on Berlin and Viet Nam. But Cuba is a different matter.

Russian "technicians" by the thousands, and Russian "defensive" weapons by the shiploads have entered Cuba in the last few months. The two words in quotations are put that way not only because these are President Kennedy's definitions, but because they are seriously questioned by some Republicans publicly, and by some Democrats privately.

Only time will tell whether the weapons are of an offensive nature, and whether the technicians are, in fact, Russian troops. But their appearance in the Western Hemisphere has injected a new and potent issue in the political campaign. Castro and the Cuban issue creep into more and more oratory as the season moves toward election day.

President Kennedy is a "political" chief executive. That is, he thinks and reacts as a politician would. And when he and his intimates decry the injection of Cuba as a political issue, it is not surprising that campaigning Republicans are prone to scoff. They believe sincerely that the President's desire to erase Cuba as an issue is itself motivated by politics, intimating that a political debate on Cuba is unpatriotic.

It may be. But to persuade the electorate of this, it would have been necessary for Kennedy to have established a more statesman-like image than he has during his White House tenure.

It is because of Cuba more than any other one foreign crisis that the congressional vote on standing military call-up authority is significant.

For that vote clearly shows that politics as usual in the United States does not mean a country divided against the common foe.

The big sport . . .

He had a big ugly face with a certain serenity—like that of a dead gangster. The eyebrows stood on matted shelves and the hands, firm on the wheel of his car, looked like hickory-cured cali hams. He drove fast and straight down the super-highway and, when he stopped at the toll booths, he always tried to tip the man.

Steve Mannion was a sport. Everything he did was sporting. One time, in a bar brawl, Steve refused to hit a man half his size until the little fellow had first put up his hands. At ball games, he called the players foul names, always complained that the beer wasn't cold enough, and offered strangers two-to-one that the next batter wouldn't get a hit.

Steve dressed like a sport. He was addicted to tan slacks with gray glen-plaid jackets and white silk ties. He had a size seventeen neck and a twelve double E foot. By day he was a foreman on a construction gang, and Steve thought it was shrewd to plot with the men against the bosses, and then tell the bosses the lowdown on the men.

He liked to bowl and he liked to fish, especially if he could find an angle to beat the racket. In bowling, he was so big that, even when he didn't get a good hit, Steve could splash pins all over the alley. He liked women too, and right now he had one with him in the car. One woman and one shotgun.

Of the two, the shotgun was the more important instrument. He brought Melinda along to watch. Once, she had been a bright, happy woman given to laughter and dancing. Now she was a shrewd mouse. She said little, because she had learned that, with Steve the Sport, the less a woman says the smaller her chances of getting into trouble.

They drove through the night in silence, her face devoid of expression in the amber reflection of the dashboard lights; his low over the wheel and intent on the road. They drove south southeast, down past Lakewood and Point Pleasant and into the scrub pine belt.

The forest was heavy on both sides of the road, except where the rising moon seemed to cut through the branches. After a while, Steve slowed the car, then pointed to a spot and grunted, and pulled off on the shoulder of the road.

"Gotta get off," he said. "Them state cops get nosy."

He reached behind the seat and pulled the shotgun up in its canvas case, removed it, and put it together. Then he reached into his pocket and jammed two shells in it. After that, he lowered the window slowly, and laid the gun on it. It was aimed diagonally ahead and across the road toward the trees.

Melinda wanted to introduce a topic, but she didn't know how to start it. She wanted to ask The Big Sport if he really ever planned to marry her. Three years before, she had met Steve. She liked a man's man, and she was an easy conquest. Later, Steve asked her to leave her husband on the grounds that it wasn't sporting to sneak out on dates when the poor man was working nights.

She wanted Steve to stand beside her when she broke the news, but he said it wouldn't be right. "It would take away his pride if he knew you preferred me to him. So you tell him." She did. It was a dreadful scene. When she sued for divorce, her husband countered by naming Steve Mannion, the Big Sport. The husband won and he paid no alimony.

Steve told Melinda not to worry. He got her a job. She worked in an embroidery shop all day for minimum wages. "What do you care?" Steve said. "We're getting married soon." That's what Melinda would like to have talked about on this particular evening. What is soon? She had been divorced two years, and Steve was single. How soon is soon?

She thought about it, watching his ugly profile in the faint light, and Melinda decided not to mention it. The subject could bring on a big fight. And a big fight could bring on a sudden and permanent break. The pit of her stomach told her that Steve might be looking for an excuse.

"He should be coming out any minute now," Steve said softly. She watched. And waited. Her eyes followed other cars, coming up the other side of the road. Melinda felt chill, and pulled the cloth coat around her neck. Suddenly, she heard Steve the Big Sport grunt.

He reached down slowly, and put on his high-beam lights. There, on the opposite side, a doe stood transfixed in the glare. Carefully, Steve slid his left hand under the barrel of the gun. Then he fired. The doe leaped. As she fell, he fired again.

The second shot hit a big sign that said: "Drive slow . . . Deer Crossing". . .

Freedom To Think

Every other year, just about this time, the mail is full of speeches, brochures, slogans, importuning the citizen to vote for a candidate on Election Day. Also the radio and television are used for this purpose.

The sponsors of all this noise and excitement are non-partisan. They do not tell you for whom to vote but they attempt to shame the citizen into voting. Stand up and be counted! But for what?

For Tweedle-dee and Tweedle-dum, for John Doe and John Roe? For a political party which writes a platform and forgets what it wrote or for another political party that copied the first political party's platform, denouncing the first political party for saying what they themselves are saying in other words. It all sounds silly.

I once voted for a candidate who chose to wear a beard. I had as good a reason for voting for him as for the Republican or Democratic candidates. He, at least, wore a beard. It was something distinctive to point to.

Sometimes one is called upon to vote for Shnook versus Schlimiel, if you know what I mean, or for Elmer Zilch versus Mortimer Snerd. How can an intelligent man make a choice?

Twice, coerced by the propaganda to vote, I entered the booth where a voting machine stared at me. I looked at the names. The insult was too much to swallow. I voted for nobody.

The propaganda says that if there are only two candidates, one should make a choice, the better of the two men. But I knew both men. Both were delightful to talk with, but neither was an administrator, an executive, a thinker. These were just names that had been popularized by exhibitionism.

Take the gubernatorial election in my state this year. I must either vote for Nelson Rockefeller whom I do not admire because he is all things to all men, or Robert Morgenthau who is nothing to anybody.

The propaganda says that I must vote to prove that I am a good citizen. I am told that in Austria 95 per cent of those eligible to vote, voted. On the other hand, in the United States, only 43.6 percent voted in 1958. Why this press agent gives 1958 statistics in 1962, I do not know. But he does. Maybe it makes the point stronger.

Some day, Americans may have sense enough to boycott an election. They will say to the politicians:

"You picked these candidates. You generally pick lemons and say that good men will not serve. You have made electioneering expenses so great, that a decent man would be ashamed to run. It is like buying a job."

If the American Heritage Foundation wants to do something constructive about elections, let them work on cutting down the costs; on making contributions really public; on holding someone, the candidate or his manager, responsible for excessive expenditures, perhaps with a fine of three times as much or a jail sentence. Let them devise a system for preventing smart guys from contributing money under the table—a method used to avoid reporting.

This is a job that needs to be done. It is much more important than telling citizens to vote when there is no particular reason to vote and no one to vote for.

The next Presidential Election may be a very peculiar one. Rockefeller versus Kennedy! Wherein do they differ in principle? Precisely what is the difference between the Republican and Democratic Parties? What is the historic difference between the Eisenhower and the Kennedy Administrations?

In Soviet Russia, they have a one party system; in the United States, we have a no-party system. In Soviet Russia, if a citizen does not vote in favor of the one party, it can only mean that he is an opponent of the one party and that he is an anti-party person. He is therefore an enemy of the state. In the United States, if a person does not vote, it may mean that he has no one to vote for, or he is tired of the inferior persons he is asked to vote for.

An American is free to think about such things and he does not like to have his television program interrupted with such admonitions. He suffers enough from detergents.

Psittacosis No Longer Serious Threat To Life

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Psittacosis is a birdborne disease that long was associated with sick parrots. It never amounted to much until 1929, when someone imported a large number of parrots from South America for Christmas sales. An epidemic of psittacosis broke out in the United States of America, with 170 reported cases and 33 deaths.

The disease spread over North America, Europe, and North Africa. Herbert Hoover, then President, sent out an order preventing the importation of psittacine birds, except under certain conditions. When the situation improved, the rules were relaxed but, with the return of the disease, the government got tough again and prohibited the importation of all psittacine birds.

It was too late, however; despite the restrictions, the disease settled in our own birds, including pigeons. Every year a small number of cases crops out among humans. This was used as evidence that the regulations were not realistic and, in 1951, the government removed the ban on interstate shipment of parakeets, cockatoos, and related birds.

The incidence of psittacosis took an upswing but not because of the change in regulations. There was a sudden boom in the bird market due to a nation-wide demand for parakeets as house pets. Reputable dealers were most careful but others were raising the birds under filthy and over-crowded conditions; smugglers did not observe quarantine.

The parakeet fad has passed and reputable producers keep their supply in quarantine and give them antibiotics to erase all traces of psittacosis. Meanwhile, the incidence in humans has lessened.

Human psittacosis usually is a respiratory infection that varies from bronchitis to pneumonia. It stems from handling sick birds or inhaling the fumes from contaminated droppings. The disease no longer is a serious threat to life, thanks to the tetracycline group of antibiotics. But it is troublesome and overwhelming infections have led to death before the condition was diagnosed and treated.

A fond father was hurrying up the pathway to greet his 4-year-old daughter, busy playing at watering the lawn. Without warning, she turned the hose on him, drenching him thoroughly. Her alibi was inspired. "Oh, Daddikins," she dimpled. "I thought you were a FLOWER!"

In a well-stocked clothes closet, a moth and his mate came upon a pair of woolen spats and had a feast for themselves. Later the moth flew about a bit to digest his dinner and bumped into a pal who caroled, "Hi boy! How ya doin?" "Not so hot," admitted the moth, "I just had a spat with my wife."

Two citizens of Athens were in Dublin one Sunday afternoon, watching a game of hurling (the Hibernian equivalent of field hockey — and very, very rough). "I don't understand this game at all," admitted one of the Greeks. "Neither do I," nodded the other. "It's all Irish to me."

Democratic 87th Congress Stabs Its Own President In The Back

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When the history of the 87th Congress is written it will undoubtedly show that Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader, is right in claiming that it was a Democratic Congress which stabbed its own President, John F. Kennedy, in the back.

But both historians and Charlie Halleck can go further and recount that part of the trouble was JFK's policy of being too nice to congressmen who were too nasty. He followed the policy of turning the other cheek to Congressmen who bit the hand that fed them.

There is no better illustration of this than the fact that Congress has been kept in session three extra days, largely because one of the President's best personal friends, dapper Sen. George Smathers of Florida, put up a roadblock against adjournment because he wanted to override an expected Presidential pocket veto on a pet pension bill for doctors and other professional men. Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia joined him — in order to get a U.S.-financed peanut laboratory in Georgia.

Smathers had voted with the doctors against medical care for elderly people who have a hard time paying their doctors' bills. Then he turned round and pushed a special pension bill permitting doctors and other self-employed, generally among the top-bracket citizens, to get special tax concessions for preferred pensions.

The bill will eat a further hole in the budget, and the treasury considers it so unjust that it has recommended a White House veto. But Senator Smathers, who has long campaigned for a balanced budget, announced last week he would hold the Congress in session until today so as to override any veto from his old friend and golfing partner, at whose wedding he served as usher.

Friendship Vs. Politics

The interesting thing about JFK is that he has turned the other cheek to Smathers for two long years. The more the debonair Senator kicks him on the legislative shins, the more his old golfing partner comes back smiling.

It's gotten to be a joke around Senate cloakrooms that the President's shins are black and blue—though not merely from Smathers. Other "loyal" Democrats, such as Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, have contributed to the bruises.

But Kerr doesn't come to White House breakfasts every week as does dapper George, and look affably across the breakfast table at the man he is about to kick shortly after he gets back to Capitol Hill. Smathers partakes of JFK's bacon and eggs, listens to the plans for pushing JFK's strategy, then takes off for the Senate and proceeds to oppose JFK's strategy whenever it will help — not his friend in the White House — but George Smathers of Florida.

Early in the Kennedy Administration, Smathers was considered "the man to see" if you wanted things done around the White House. He went every week end with JFK to Palm Beach, sometimes flying in the same plane. They played golf and lunched together.

Among other things, Kennedy appointed Smathers' ex-assistant, Grant Stockdale, Ambassador to Ireland, where the Mississippi-born Floridian was not a huge success, and has been replaced by the genial Irishman from Philadelphia, Matt McCloskey.

But after about nine months of patiently tolerating Smathers' biting the hand that fed him, the White House leaked word that Kennedy was "cooling" on his old friend. Whereupon the handsome Senator from Florida got an appointment with Kennedy in the private, upstairs part of the White House and called for a showdown.

He told friends later with some glee how he had informed Kennedy that he couldn't support him on everything and that Kennedy had said the "cooling off" report came from his staff and did not represent his own personal feelings.

After that Kennedy went further out of his way to feed the mouth that bit him. He journeyed all the way to Miami last Morch to speak before a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Smathers and raising money largely for Smathers' re-election — though he's assured of being reelected.

At Smathers' request he even invited Bill Dale of the First National Bank of Orlando, who has boasted he hasn't voted Democratic for years, for a cruise on the Honey Fitz. With him was Bill Thompson, president of the East Coast Railway, both friends of Smathers, and both men who helped swing Florida against Kennedy in 1960.

But despite this appeasement, Smathers has continued opposing Kennedy where it hurts most. He is the only regular Democratic Senator who has joined with irresponsible Senators in demanding that Kennedy take military action in Cuba — at a time when Kennedy urged the public not to rock the Cuban boat.

And today he has joined with Senator Russell, the peanut-pusher from Georgia, in keeping the Senate in session an extra week, so Smathers could override the expected pocket veto of his old friend whose breakfast he eats every Wednesday morning and at whose wedding he served.

Can A Governor Be Removed By Court Order?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Mississippi story — legally speaking — is just beginning to unfold one of its most important issues. Every state in the union could be affected. For the U. S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit, has really raised in the case of Governor Barnett of Mississippi the question of whether the governor of a state can be removed from office by court order on a contempt charge and subjected to a jail sentence, thus interfering with the exercise of his duties as the chief executive of a state.

For decades past the principle accepted by the federal and state courts has been that a president of the United States or the governor of a state can be removed from office only by the impeachment process. If the rule is reversed now by the Supreme Court of the United States — assuming that it will choose to hear the case at all — it would be possible for a private litigant hereafter to insist that a president or a governor appear in court and be subjected to cross-examination at the command of the court. Even Congressional committees could then order a president to appear before them, and, if he refused to do so, a judicial summons could be issued demanding that he show cause why he shouldn't be held in contempt. If he were adjudged in contempt he could then be imprisoned and thus removed from the office to which he had been elected.

It so happens that these very issues were discussed in July 1951 when a U.S. Senate Committee, investigating gambling practices in Florida, issued a subpoena ordering Governor Fuller Warren of Florida to appear and answer questions. Mr. Warren filed a comprehensive brief covering all the legal points, and, as a consequence, the Senate committee did not press for the enforcement of the subpena.

Past rulings indicate that, while a governor may ignore a court order so far as his personal appearance in court is concerned, nobody else in the state government can do so. Hence, a court can enjoin one or more state officials from carrying out any illegal act even if it is ordered officially by a governor. As for the governor, however, he is himself immune from arrest and punishment, the brief contends, because no court can remove a governor or interfere with his right to remain in office for the term for which he is elected. He can be removed only by impeachment by the state legislature as provides in the constitution of that state.

The brief points out that it doesn't make any difference whether the court order is served on a governor as an official or as an individual. It is contended that the court can issue such an order any time, but a governor or a president can ignore it without being compelled even to give any reason for his refusal.

When President Thomas Jefferson refused to respond to a federal court subpoena, Chief Justice Marshall of the Supreme Court of the United States upheld him, in an opinion written in behalf of the court, even though Mr. Jefferson gave no reason for his refusal to testify. In other cases in state courts, similar attempts by citizens to bring a governor personally into court under a court order to testify have been uniformly rebuffed. In one case—Thompson V. German Valley Railroad — the highest court of the state of New Jersey said:

"Such order ought not to be made against the executive of the state, because it might bring the executive in conflict with the judiciary. If the executive thinks he ought to testify, in compliance with the opinion, he will do so without order. If he thinks it to be his official duty, in protecting the rights and dignity of his office, he will not comply, even if directed b yan order. And, in his case, the court would hardly entertain proceedings to compel him by adjudging him in contempt. It will be presumed that the chief magistrate intends no contempt, but that his action is in acordance with his official duty."

The brief filed by Governor Warren of Florida said:

"No committee of the Congress of the United States, nor the Congress itself, has the power to compel the governor of a sovereign state to answer a subpoena and go to Washington, D. C., to testify conferning matters within his knowledge as governor.

"To recognize the power of a Congressional committee to compel the governor of a sovereign state to leave his state and appear before such committee in the nation's capital is to recognize the power of such a committee, at any moment it may elect, to determine whether or not the governor shall perform the duties of his office. . . .

"The recognition of such power in Congress is to admit that the power lies in one department of the federal government to utterly destroy the entire concept of dual sovereignty. . . ."

While the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has deferred until October 12 the hearing on whether the Governor of Mississippi has "purged" himself of alleged contempt, it looks as if the Department of Justice itself may be backing away from the test. If the proceedings are dropped, the episode will nevertheless remain as a species of potential blackmail that could be used upon occasion to enable the U.S. Department of Justice to intimidate the governor of any state.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

POLITICAL ISSUE—The three principal crisis areas in foreign relations are Cuba, Berlin and Viet Nam. In each area the crisis has a common source — unremitting pressure by the communist backed forces.

Congress backs presidential decisions and strategy on Berlin and Viet Nam. But Cuba is a different matter.

Russian "technicians" by the thousands, and Russian "defensive" weapons by the shiploads have entered Cuba in the last few months. The two words in quotations are put that way not only because these are President Kennedy's definitions, but because they are seriously questioned by some Republicans publicly, and by some Democrats privately.

Only time will tell whether the weapons are of an offensive nature, and whether the technicians are, in fact, Russian troops. But their appearance in the Western Hemisphere has injected a new and potent issue in the political campaign. Castro and the Cuban issue creep into more and more oratory as the season moves toward election day.

President Kennedy is a "political" chief executive. That is, he thinks and reacts as a politician would. And when he and his intimates decry the injection of Cuba as a political issue, it is not surprising that campaigning Republicans are prone to scoff. They believe sincerely that the President's desire to erase Cuba as an issue is itself motivated by politics, intimating that a political debate on Cuba is unpatriotic.

It may be. But to persuade the electorate of this, it would have been necessary for Kennedy to have established a more statesman-like image than he has during his White House tenure.

It is because of Cuba more than any other one foreign crisis that the congressional vote on standing military call-up authority is significant.

For that vote clearly shows that politics as usual in the United States does not mean a country divided against the common foe.

The big sport . . .

He had a big ugly face with a certain serenity—like that of a dead gangster. The eyebrows stood on matted shelves and the hands, firm on the wheel of his car, looked like hickory-cured cali hams. He drove fast and straight down the super-highway and, when he stopped at the toll booths, he always tried to tip the man.

Steve Mannion was a sport. Everything he did was sporting. One time, in a bar brawl, Steve refused to hit a man half his size until the little fellow had first put up his hands. At ball games, he called the players foul names, always complained that the beer wasn't cold enough, and offered strangers two-to-one that the next batter wouldn't get a hit.

Steve dressed like a sport. He was addicted to tan slacks with gray glen-plaid jackets and white silk ties. He had a size seventeen neck and a twelve double E foot. By day he was a foreman on a construction gang, and Steve thought it was shrewd to plot with the men against the bosses, and then tell the bosses the lowdown on the men.

He liked to bowl and he liked to fish, especially if he could find an angle to beat the racket. In bowling, he was so big that, even when he didn't get a good hit, Steve could splash pins all over the alley. He liked women too, and right now he had one with him in the car. One woman and one shotgun.

Of the two, the shotgun was the more important instrument. He brought Melinda along to watch. Once, she had been a bright, happy woman given to laughter and dancing. Now she was a shrewd mouse. She said little, because she had learned that, with Steve the Sport, the less a woman says the smaller her chances of getting into trouble.

They drove through the night in silence, her face devoid of expression in the amber reflection of the dashboard lights; his low over the wheel and intent on the road. They drove south southeast, down past Lakewood and Point Pleasant and into the scrub pine belt.

The forest was heavy on both sides of the road, except where the rising moon seemed to cut through the branches. After a while, Steve slowed the car, then pointed to a spot and grunted, and pulled off on the shoulder of the road.

"Gotta get off," he said. "Them state cops get nosy."

He reached behind the seat and pulled the shotgun up in its canvas case, removed it, and put it together. Then he reached into his pocket and jammed two shells in it. After that, he lowered the window slowly, and laid the gun on it. It was aimed diagonally ahead and across the road toward the trees.

Melinda wanted to introduce a topic, but she didn't know how to start it. She wanted to ask The Big Sport if he really ever planned to marry her. Three years before, she had met Steve. She liked a man's man, and she was an easy conquest. Later, Steve asked her to leave her husband on the grounds that it wasn't sporting to sneak out on dates when the poor man was working nights.

She wanted Steve to stand beside her when she broke the news, but he said it wouldn't be right. "It would take away his pride if he knew you preferred me to him. So you tell him." She did. It was a dreadful scene. When she sued for divorce, her husband countered by naming Steve Mannion, the Big Sport. The husband won and he paid no alimony.

Steve told Melinda not to worry. He got her a job. She worked in an embroidery shop all day for minimum wages. "What do you care?" Steve said. "We're getting married soon." That's what Melinda would like to have talked about on this particular evening. What is soon? She had been divorced two years, and Steve was single. How soon is soon?

She thought about it, watching his ugly profile in the faint light, and Melinda decided not to mention it. The subject could bring on a big fight. And a big fight could bring on a sudden and permanent break. The pit of her stomach told her that Steve might be looking for an excuse.

"He should be coming out any minute now," Steve said softly. She watched. And waited. Her eyes followed other cars, coming up the other side of the road. Melinda felt chill, and pulled the cloth coat around her neck. Suddenly, she heard Steve the Big Sport grunt.

He reached down slowly, and put on his high-beam lights. There, on the opposite side, a doe stood transfixed in the glare. Carefully, Steve slid his left hand under the barrel of the gun. Then he fired. The doe leaped. As she fell, he fired again.

The second shot hit a big sign that said: "Drive slow . . . Deer Crossing". . .

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Psittacosis is a birdborne disease that long was associated with sick parrots. It never amounted to much until 1929, when someone imported a large number of parrots from South America for Christmas sales. An epidemic of psittacosis broke out in the United States of America, with 170 reported cases and 33 deaths.

The disease spread over North America, Europe, and North Africa. Herbert Hoover, then President, sent out an order preventing the importation of psittacine birds, except under certain conditions. When the situation improved, the rules were relaxed but, with the return of the disease, the government got tough again and prohibited the importation of all psittacine birds.

It was too late, however; despite the restrictions, the disease settled in our own birds, including pigeons. Every year a small number of cases crops out among humans. This was used as evidence that the regulations were not realistic and, in 1951, the government removed the ban on interstate shipment of parakeets, cockatoos, and related birds.

The incidence of psittacosis took an upswing but not because of the change in regulations. There was a sudden boom in the bird market due to a nation-wide demand for parakeets as house pets. Reputable dealers were most careful but others were raising the birds under filthy and over-crowded conditions; smugglers did not observe quarantine.

The parakeet fad has passed and reputable producers keep their supply in quarantine and give them antibiotics to erase all traces of psittacosis. Meanwhile, the incidence in humans has lessened.

Human psittacosis usually is a respiratory infection that varies from bronchitis to pneumonia. It stems from handling sick birds or inhaling the fumes from contaminated droppings. The disease no longer is a serious threat to life, thanks to the tetracycline group of antibiotics. But it is troublesome and overwhelming infections have led to death before the condition was diagnosed and treated.

TOMORROW: Air pollution effects.

Fifth Game Of World Series Set For Today Following Postponement

Managers Plan No Changes In Their Lineups

Candlestick Park Scene Of Sixth Contest On Friday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rain and wet grounds forced a postponement of Tuesday's fifth World Series game until Wednesday at Yankee Stadium with the favored New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants all even after splitting the first four games.

About 50,000 damp fans stomped around in a steady drizzle for hours until the game was called off officially 71 minutes after game time. Optimistic weather forecasts of late clearing had influenced Commissioner Ford Frick to delay a decision as late as possible.

Under World Series rules, the schedule will be shoved back a day. The fifth game will be played Wednesday at noon (EST), with Thursday off for travel and the sixth game Friday at Candlestick Park in San Francisco. If there is a seventh game it also will be played in San Francisco Saturday.

The rainout made no difference in the pitching plans of Managers Ralph Houk of the Yanks and Alvin Dark of the Giants. Jack Sanford (24-7) the broad-shouldered right-hander who won the second game with a three-hitter 2-0, will work for the Giants against Ralph Terry (23-12), the man he beat Friday.

No Changes Planned

Both managers felt the rainout would not have any important bearing on the outcome of the Series. They planned no changes in their line-ups.

Dark, of course, remembered well the postponement of 1951 when the Giants, then located in New York, had won two of the first three games with the Yankees. Dark was the shortstop on that Giants team that barged into the Series on Bobby Thomson's "miracle of Coogan's Bluff homer in the playoff game with Brooklyn.

When it rained in '51, the Giants had their ace, Sal Maglie, ready for action. The Yanks were hard up for pitching. With a day of rain, Allie Reynolds had his required rest and beat Maglie in the fourth game. The Yanks closed it out by winning the last three games.

"It was different in 1951," said Dark in the clubhouse. "We had no travel dates then. This is a different situation. This doesn't affect us at all. Our pitchers are ready.

"I don't want to see anyone hurt. We've gone this far without injury and it would be a shame to start now."

Houk agreed with Dark, especially on the danger of injuries on the slippery outfield turf. The infield had been covered by a huge tarpaulin.

"It will make no difference to us," said Houk. "Whitey Ford could pitch either the sixth or seventh now. He has been going every fourth day all season.

Bill Stafford Ready

"Bill Stafford (cracked on the left shin by a line drive in Sunday's third game) is ready to pitch. I won't decide whether it will be Stafford or Ford in the sixth game until after tomorrow's game."

The early word on Wednesday's weather was "perfect for baseball."

The postponement figured to help the Giants most of all because they came into the Series without a day of rest after playing a three-game playoff with the Dodgers. It also gave both Sanford and Terry an extra day or four days since their last meeting.

James Paddock Dies

Houk Believes Rainout Won't Affect Either Team

Yankee Manager Admits He Wanted To Play Yesterday

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, a guy who comes to play, tried to convince everyone Tuesday's postponement "didn't matter," but it was obvious he preferred the game had been played.

He even said as much in an unguarded moment.

"Gee, I wish we had played today," he muttered, while scrounging around for a match to put to his unlit cigar.

But in answer to all questions about his preference, the tousled-haired Yankee manager said, "I can't see how this postponement will help or hurt either club.

No Significance

"There is no particular significance one way or another," he added. "We could have played if they gave us the word although no one likes to play on a wet field."

Houk seemed to lose patience only once, when someone asked whether he would have risked playing Mickey Mantle on a wet field if the game had gotten underway.

"Mantle would have played," Houk said bluntly. "He's in perfect shape. We don't have to worry about him the way we did earlier in the season when there was a question about his knee. He's perfectly okay now."

Houk said he planned to go with the same lineup Wednesday as he had already announced for Tuesday's contest.

"There'll be no changes," he said, lighting his stogie.

Ralph Terry, who was to start Tuesday and will try again Wednesday, was as much disappointed as his manager although he, too, tried to pretend it didn't matter one way or another.

Gets Extra Day

"I guess it's better to have an extra day's rest than to go out there and pitch with one less," said Terry, chewing on a thick wad of bubble gum.

Possibly the man in the toughest spot was Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, who eventually called the game after a 1-hour and 11-minute delay.

"It was a tough decision to make," Frick said. "I know a lot of people were disappointed but as long as I felt there was a chance, we waited."

Frick's two aides, Charles Segar and Frank Slocum, were in constant touch with the Weather Bureau and were repeatedly assured that the skies would clear.

"One of the reasons I waited as long as I did was because the Weather Bureau kept telling us the rain would let up soon," Frick said. "They said it was clearing all over the city except in the general area of Yankee Stadium."

During one point in the delay, Houk received word that the rain had stopped and the sun was shining in midtown.

"Good," he grinned, "let's play the game in Central Park."

Liston Refuses To Attend N.Y. Boxing Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston refused Tuesday to appear before a New York state legislative committee investigating professional boxing.

Liston, through a telegram signed by his attorney, Morton Witkin, denied previous testimony by another heavyweight boxer, Cortez Stewart, that Frank (Blinky) Palermo asked Stewart to be a sparring partner for the champ before his one-round kayo of Floyd Patterson Sept. 25 in Chicago.

Palermo last year was described by a U.S. Senate committee as a member of an underworld syndicate that controlled Liston's boxing destiny.

Witkin wired the New York Joint Legislative Committee, seeking to determine whether boxing should be outlawed in the nation's biggest state, that Liston never had any conversation with Stewart, nor authorized any other person to speak with him, directly or indirectly.

Liston wanted to attend the World Series in New York's Yankee Stadium this week, but Witkin made him stay home because of the possibility of being served with a committee subpoena.

The attorney said Liston wasn't afraid to testify.

Halfback Barry Bruce scored three touchdowns and an extra point in the first half to lead Allegany High School's junior varsity football team to a 21-14 triumph over the Keyser High Jayvees yesterday at Campobello.

Barry, brother of Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who set an all-time city scoring record in 1948 when he tallied 23 touchdowns and 138 points, upped his season total to 39 points as the Little Campers posted their second straight win of the campaign.

Bruce's touchdown in yesterday's game came on runs of 48, 58 and eight yards as Allegany piled up a 21-0 lead in the first half, two of the tallies coming on a safety. Barry scored three tds and 20 points in the season opener as Allegany defeated Beall, 27-6.

Ronnie Hardeman accounted for Keyser's initial score in the third period on a two-yard scamper and "Butch" Rogers and "Chuck" Vossler's pass for the extra point.

SS League Meeting Slated Tomorrow

The first meeting of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League for 1962-63 will be held tomorrow at the Y, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Among the items of business on the agenda will be the election of officers, assignment of practice schedules and study of the by-laws.

Floyd (Pete) Elliott, league president, will conduct the business session. All league representatives and pastors of participating churches are urged to attend.

Lenny Moore May Play For Colts Sunday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Halfback Lenny Moore, who suffered a fractured kneecap in a National Football League exhibition game early last month, may make his debut of the regular season Sunday when the Baltimore Colts meet the Cleveland Browns.

Moore, Baltimore's greatest scoring threat, worked out in Memorial Stadium Tuesday for the first time since the injury. He reported the leg felt good.

"I think I can play this week," he said. "The leg feels good. I am not running at full speed yet, but that is because the trainers want me to take it gradually."

The all-pro halfback said the injury would not slow him down. "I don't think I can run as fast today as I could before my injury, but I believe that by the end of the week I will have all my speed back."

Weeb Ewbank said Moore may see action against the Browns in Cleveland, although probably only in spots. "Lenny thinks he can go, and so do we." He said by Friday Moore should be running with the offensive team in practice.

Bucks Approve Participation In Rose Bowl Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's faculty council approved Tuesday a policy of participation in the Rose Bowl football games, reversing its stand of last season.

The council voted 36-20 to approve a recommendation of the university athletic council made Sept. 26.

The participation is approved, the recommendation said, so long as a formal contract is in effect between the Big Ten and the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Such a contract was resumed this year after a lapse.

Last year, the faculty council turned down the Rose Bowl recommendation, touching off loud protests from OSU students and fans of the Buckeye team.

The Buckeyes won the Big Ten title last year but couldn't accept the Rose Bowl bid. This year they are the favorites to take the title again.

Mounts And Terrors Play Scoreless Tie In Four Overtimes

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP)—Mt. St. Marys and Western Maryland played four overtimes, instead of the regulation two, un a Mason-Dixon Conference soccer game Tuesday, but still wound up in a scoreless tie.

The two additional five-minute overtimes were played by agreement of both coaches after the one-hour regulation game and two overtime periods had produced no score.

It was a listless game. Mt. St. Marys, in its first conference action of the season, didn't take a shot until the third quarter. There were 23 shots altogether — six for the Mounts and 17 for the Green Terrors.

Once, in the second overtime, the Mounts came close to scoring. Left halfback Jack Bransfield had an open shot from 30 feet out but he miskicked it.

Mt. St. Marys now is 2-1-1 overall and 2-0-1 in the conference. Western Maryland is 0-1-1 over-all and 0-0-1 in Mason-Dixon play.

Indians' Weaver Is Named SC's Player Of Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William & Mary's Charlie Weaver, a 160-pound halfback from Easton, Pa., has been named Southern Conference player-of-the-week on the basis of his performance Saturday in the Indians' 29-23 victory over The Citadel.

Weaver dashed 34 yards in the fourth period to score the Braves' winning touchdown and boost William & Mary into a two-way tie with VMI for the conference lead.

The 5-foot-8 halfback was also among the conference's top vote-getters in last week's poll of league sportswriters.

Weaver, who picked up a total of 162 yards against the Cadets, edged George Washington halfback Dick Drummond in the balloting this week.

Drummond dashed 85 yards to set up the touchdown which gave the Colonials a 14-7 win over Furman last Friday night.

Fifth Game Of World Series Set For Today Following Postponement

Managers Plan No Changes In Their Lineups

Candlestick Park Scene Of Sixth Contest On Friday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rain and wet grounds forced a postponement of Tuesday's fifth World Series game until Wednesday at Yankee Stadium with the favored New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants all even after splitting the first four games.

About 50,000 damp fans stomped around in a steady drizzle for hours until the game was called off officially 71 minutes after game time. Optimistic weather forecasts of late clearing had influenced Commissioner Ford Frick to delay a decision as late as possible.

Under World Series rules, the schedule will be shoved back a day. The fifth game will be played Wednesday at noon (EST), with Thursday off for travel and the sixth game Friday at Candlestick Park in San Francisco. If there is a seventh game it also will be played in San Francisco Saturday.

The rainout made no difference in the pitching plans of Managers Ralph Houk of the Yanks and Alvin Dark of the Giants. Jack Sanford (24-7) the broad-shouldered right-hander who won the second game with a three-hitter 2-0, will work for the Giants against Ralph Terry (23-12), the man he beat Friday.

No Changes Planned

Both managers felt the rainout would not have any important bearing on the outcome of the Series. They planned no changes in their line-ups.

Dark, of course, remembered well the postponement of 1951 when the Giants, then located in New York, had won two of the first three games with the Yankees. Dark was the shortstop on that Giants team that barged into the Series on Bobby Thomson's "miracle of Coogan's Bluff homer in the playoff game with Brooklyn.

When it rained in '51, the Giants had their ace, Sal Maglie, ready for action. The Yanks were hard up for pitching. With a day of rain, Allie Reynolds had his required rest and beat Maglie in the fourth game. The Yanks closed it out by winning the last three games.

"It was different in 1951," said Dark in the clubhouse. "We had no travel dates then. This is a different situation. This doesn't affect us at all. Our pitchers are ready.

"I don't want to see anyone hurt. We've gone this far without injury and it would be a shame to start now."

Houk agreed with Dark, especially on the danger of injuries on the slippery outfield turf. The infield had been covered by a huge tarpaulin.

"It will make no difference to us," said Houk. "Whitey Ford could pitch either the sixth or seventh now. He has been going every fourth day all season.

Bill Stafford Ready

"Bill Stafford (cracked on the left shin by a line drive in Sunday's third game) is ready to pitch. I won't decide whether it will be Stafford or Ford in the sixth game until after tomorrow's game."

The early word on Wednesday's weather was "perfect for baseball."

The postponement figured to help the Giants most of all because they came into the Series without a day of rest after playing a three-game playoff with the Dodgers. It also gave both Sanford and Terry an extra day or four days since their last meeting.

James Paddock Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—James L. Paddock Sr., executive vice president of Latonia Race Track at Florence, died Tuesday after a brief illness. He was 61.

Houk Believes Rainout Won't Affect Either Team

Yankee Manager Admits He Wanted To Play Yesterday

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, a guy who comes to play, tried to convince everyone Tuesday's postponement "didn't matter," but it was obvious he preferred the game had been played.

He even said as much in an unguarded moment.

"Gee, I wish we had played today," he muttered, while scrounging around for a match to put to his unlit cigar.

But in answer to all questions about his preference, the tousled-haired Yankee manager said, "I can't see how this postponement will help or hurt either club.

No Significance

"There is no particular significance one way or another," he added. "We could have played if they gave us the word although no one likes to play on a wet field."

Houk seemed to lose patience only once, when someone asked whether he would have risked playing Mickey Mantle on a wet field if the game had gotten underway.

"Mantle would have played," Houk said bluntly. "He's in perfect shape. We don't have to worry about him the way we did earlier in the season when there was a question about his knee. He's perfectly okay now."

Houk said he planned to go with the same lineup Wednesday as he had already announced for Tuesday's contest.

"There'll be no changes," he said, lighting his stogie.

Ralph Terry, who was to start Tuesday and will try again Wednesday, was as much disappointed as his manager although he, too, tried to pretend it didn't matter one way or another.

Gets Extra Day

"I guess it's better to have an extra day's rest than to go out there and pitch with one less," said Terry, chewing on a thick wad of bubble gum.

Possibly the man in the toughest spot was Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, who eventually called the game after a 1-hour and 11-minute delay.

"It was a tough decision to make," Frick said. "I know a lot of people were disappointed but as long as I felt there was a chance, we waited."

Frick's two aides, Charles Segar and Frank Slocum, were in constant touch with the Weather Bureau and were repeatedly assured that the skies would clear.

"One of the reasons I waited as long as I did was because the Weather Bureau kept telling us the rain would let up soon," Frick said. "They said it was clearing all over the city except in the general area of Yankee Stadium."

During one point in the delay, Houk received word that the rain had stopped and the sun was shining in midtown.

"Good," he grinned, "let's play the game in Central Park."

Liston Refuses To Attend N.Y. Boxing Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston refused Tuesday to appear before a New York state legislative committee investigating professional boxing.

Liston, through a telegram signed by his attorney, Morton Witkin, denied previous testimony by another heavyweight boxer, Cortez Stewart, that Frank (Blinky) Palermo asked Stewart to be a sparring partner for the champ before his one-round kayo of Floyd Patterson Sept. 25 in Chicago.

Palermo last year was described by a U.S. Senate committee as a member of an underworld syndicate that controlled Liston's boxing destiny.

Witkin wired the New York Joint Legislative Committee, seeking to determine whether boxing should be outlawed in the nation's biggest state, that Liston never had any conversation with Stewart, nor authorized any other person to speak with him, directly or indirectly.

Liston wanted to attend the World Series in New York's Yankee Stadium this week, but Witkin made him stay home because of the possibility of being served with a committee subpoena.

The attorney said Liston wasn't afraid to testify.

Twins Sell Maranda

Halfback Barry Bruce scored three touchdowns and an extra point in the first half to lead Allegany High School's junior varsity football team to a 21-14 triumph over the Keyser High Jayvees yesterday at Campobello.

Barry, brother of Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who set an all-time city scoring record in 1948 when he tallied 23 touchdowns and 138 points, upped his season total to 39 points as the Little Campers posted their second straight win of the campaign.

Bruce's touchdown in yesterday's game came on runs of 48, 58 and eight yards as Allegany piled up a 21-0 lead in the first half, two of the tallies coming on a safety. Barry scored three tds and 20 points in the season opener as Allegany defeated Beall, 27-6.

Ronnie Hardeman accounted for Keyser's initial score in the third period on a two-yard scamper and "Butch" Rogers and "Chuck" Vossler's pass for the extra point.

Rogers plunged over from the one for Keyser's second td in the final period and Hardeman ran the point.

SS League Meeting Slated Tomorrow

The first meeting of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League for 1962-63 will be held tomorrow at the Y, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Among the items of business on the agenda will be the election of officers, assignment of practice schedules and study of the by-laws.

Floyd (Pete) Elliott, league president, will conduct the business session. All league representatives and pastors of participating churches are urged to attend.

Lenny Moore May Play For Colts Sunday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Halfback Lenny Moore, who suffered a fractured kneecap in a National Football League exhibition game early last month, may make his debut of the regular season Sunday when the Baltimore Colts meet the Cleveland Browns.

Moore, Baltimore's greatest scoring threat, worked out in Memorial Stadium Tuesday for the first time since the injury. He reported the leg felt good.

"I think I can play this week," he said. "The leg feels good. I am not running at full speed yet, but that is because the trainers want me to take it gradually."

The all-pro halfback said the injury would not slow him down. "I don't think I can run as fast today as I could before my injury, but I believe that by the end of the week I will have all my speed back."

Weeb Ewbank said Moore may see action against the Browns in Cleveland, although probably only in spots. "Lenny thinks he can go, and so do we." He said by Friday Moore should be running with the offensive team in practice.

Indians' Weaver Is Named SC's Player Of Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William & Mary's Charlie Weaver, a 160-pound halfback from Easton, Pa., has been named Southern Conference player-of-the-week on the basis of his performance Saturday in the Indians' 29-23 victory over The Citadel.

Weaver dashed 34 yards in the fourth period to score the Braves' winning touchdown and boost William & Mary into a two-way tie with VMI for the conference lead.

The 5-foot-8 halfback was also among the conference's top vote-getters in last week's poll of league sportswriters.

Weaver, who picked up a total of 162 yards against the Cadets, edged George Washington halfback Dick Drummond in the balloting this week.

Drummond dashed 85 yards to set up the touchdown which gave the Colonials a 14-7 win over Furman last Friday night.

Mounts And Terrors Play Scoreless Tie In Four Overtimes

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP)—Mt. St. Marys and Western Maryland played four overtimes, instead of the regulation two, un a Mason-Dixon Conference soccer game Tuesday, but still wound up in a scoreless tie.

The two additional five-minute overtimes were played by agreement of both coaches after the one-hour regulation game and two overtime periods had produced no score.

It was a listless game. Mt. St. Marys, in its first conference action of the season, didn't take a shot until the third quarter. There were 23 shots altogether — six for the Mounts and 17 for the Green Terrors.

Once, in the second overtime, the Mounts came close to scoring. Left halfback Jack Bransfield had an open shot from 30 feet out but he miskicked it.

Mt. St. Marys now is 2-1-1 overall and 2-0-1 in the conference. Western Maryland is 0-1-1 over-all and 0-0-1 in Mason-Dixon play.

Valley Nips Flintstone, 1-0, To Grab Lead In WMI Soccer League

GAMES FRIDAY

Valley at Beall
Bruce at Flintstone

Valley High School moved past idle Beall into first place in the WMI Soccer League yesterday afternoon, but not without a struggle. The Black Knights edged last place Flintstone, 1-0, in a game played at Detmold.

In yesterday's other WMIL soccer tilt, Leonard Ritchie's Bruce Bulldogs defeated Mt. Savage, 2-1, to move ahead of the Indians into third place. The Beall Mountaineers, not scheduled yesterday, dropped into second.

The outcome of Friday's game should further scramble the early season standings. Valley will travel to Beall in a battle for first place, and Flintstone will host Bruce.

Two Players Injured

Marvin Miller connected on a penalty kick in the third period yesterday to account for the only scoring in yesterday's Valley-Flintstone game, which was marred by an accident.

Two Flintstone players — Carl Thomas and Gary Robinette — were taken to Miners Hospital in Flintstone after colliding. Thomas was treated and released, but Robinette was placed in traction as a result of a neck injury. Xrays were taken.

Flintstone failed to score on its only penalty kick of the afternoon when Valley goalkeeper Bob Creighton made a good stop of Don Kinton's boot. The scoring attempt came with only two and one-half minutes left to play.

The Shockey boys (Dennis and Philip), Larry Suder and Fred Sloan were outstanding for the Knights. Standouts for the losing Aggies were Robinette, Thomas, Don Kinton and Larry Haines.

Bennett Scores Twice

Bruce's Bulldogs scored both of their points on penalty kicks by Irvin Bennett in the first and third periods. The Indians' lone tally came on a field goal by Darrell Blank, whose third period kick score from about 40 yards out.

The Indians had one penalty kick by Ralph Wilson, but it was broken up by Bulldog goalie Charles Ferguson. Ferguson was credited with five saves, while the Indians' Terry Crabtree made 13.

Excelling for the winning boosters were Ferguson, Ken Blizzard, Gerald Miller and Lloyd Fike. The Indians' sparklers were Robert Robertson, Bill Johnson and Darrell Blank.

Alabama Replaces Bucks As AP Grid Poll Leader

Ohio State Plunges To 10th; Texas 2nd, Penn State Is Third

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The game of musical chairs between Alabama and Ohio State in the football rankings has ended. It may be a long time before the highly touted Buckeyes again are in the running for the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press' weekly football poll.

Unbeaten Alabama (3-0) moved up from second place to first by squeaking past weak Vanderbilt, 17-7, while Ohio State (1-1) was the victim of a resounding 9-7 upset by UCLA.

Bucks Drop To 10th

Ohio State, the solid pick in the pre-season poll and the No. 1 team a week ago, fell all the way to 10th place.

Texas (3-0) crushed Tulane 35-8 and advanced to second place giving Alabama a run for the top position. Penn State (3-0), the pride of the East, topped Rice 18-7 and was a strong third.

Then came Southern California (4th), Mississippi (5th), Louisiana State (6th), Washington (7th), Arkansas (8th), Purdue (9th) and Ohio State (10th).

On a point basis, Alabama collected 445, Texas 422 and Penn State 321.

Only four of the top 10—Texas, Penn State, LSU and Washington—appear to be in for any kind of trouble this weekend. Southern California, which edged Iowa 7-0, and Mississippi, which walloped Houston 40-7, are not scheduled this week.

Texas takes on rising Oklahoma (1-1) at Dallas. The Sooners, who beat Syracuse 7-3 and lost 13-7 to Notre Dame, didn't play last Saturday.

Lions Face Cadets

Penn State's Nittany Lions, who have rolled over Navy, Air Force and Rice, take on Army (2-1).

LSU (2-1), fresh from its 10-7 triumph over Georgia Tech, entertains potent Miami of Florida (3-0) Saturday night. The Hurricanes just got by Florida State, 7-6.

Washington (2-0-1), which slaughtered Kansas State 41-0, may have more than it bargained for in Oregon State (2-1) at Portland.

Arkansas (3-0) hosts Baylor (0-2); Purdue (1-0-1) after its 24-6 conquest of Notre Dame is at home to Miami of Ohio (4-0); and smouldering Ohio State (1-1) visits Illinois (0-2).

The Top Ten, based on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 point system (season records and first place votes in parentheses):

1.	Alabama (23) (3-0)	445
2.	Texas (20) (3-0)	422
3.	Penn State (3) (3-0)	321
4.	Southern Cal (1) (3-0)	271

23 Countries Enter World Golf Tourney

By ALAN CLINE

KAWANA, Japan (AP) — The third World Amateur Golf Tournament opens Wednesday as talk of an American runaway all but disappeared from this rugged, panoramic golfing resort spread out in the shadow of Mt. Fuji on the shores of the Pacific.

At stake is the Eisenhower Cup, a trophy the Americans won two years ago by 42 strokes. The odds are it will not be like that this time.

Four-man teams from 23 countries are entered in the 72-hole medal play event that ends Saturday. Only the low three scores of each team are counted daily.

The U.S. team of Labron Harris Jr., Billy Joe Patton, Dick Sikes and Deane Beman have been shooting over par-golf in practice rounds on the 6,192-yard, par 70 course.

Sikes, two-time National Public Links Champion from Springdale, Ark., left his clubs in his locker Tuesday. He said he was hitting the ball badly and thought a rest would do him more good.

In contrast, New Zealander Stuart Jones fired a 69. He missed a 45-foot putt on the 18th. Jones' teammates, Walter Godfrey, Ross Newdick and Ross Murray had final practice rounds of 72, 73, and 74.

Patton, a member of the 1958 World Amateur team which lost a playoff to Australia, had a final warmup 71; Beman, former U.S. National Amateur champion from Bethesda, Md., 73, and Harris, reigning U.S. Amateur champ from Stillwater, Okla., 74.

Nugent Tired Of Explaining Why Terps Don't 'Win Big'

Coach Says Fans Expect Team To Score More Often

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"I'm getting weary of explaining why we have won 15 of our last 19 games, and I'm tired of being asked 'what's wrong with Maryland,'" Terp coach Tom Nugent told a news conference Tuesday.

He said fans and booster club members alike have expected Maryland to win and win big, and have criticized the team for not being able to score more often. Maryland has won all its games so far this season, but by only narrow margins. The Terps defeated SMU 7-0; Wake Forest 13-2 and N. C. State 14-6.

They journey to North Carolina Saturday for the third time in as many weeks to take on North Carooina at Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels have lost all three of their games so far this season.

All three Maryland units worked on offensive scrimmage Tuesday and some goal line defense.

Nugent said he felt his team faced more danger against North Crolina than they had against any other team this season. He said the Tar Heels used 43 men and three units in their loss to Michigan State last week, switching units every five minutes.

Valley Nips Flintstone, 1-0, To Grab Lead In WMI Soccer League

GAMES FRIDAY

Valley at Beall
Bruce at Flintstone

Valley High School moved past idle Beall into first place in the WMI Soccer League yesterday afternoon, but not without a struggle. The Black Knights edged last place Flintstone, 1-0, in a game played at Detmold.

In yesterday's other WMIL soccer tilt, Leonard Ritchie's Bruce Bulldogs defeated Mt. Savage, 2-1, to move ahead of the Indians into third place. The Beall Mountaineers, not scheduled yesterday, dropped into second.

The outcome of Friday's game should further scramble the early season standings. Valley will travel to Beall in a battle for first place, and Flintstone will host Bruce.

Two Players Injured

Marvin Miller connected on a penalty kick in the third period yesterday to account for the only scoring in yesterday's Valley-Flintstone game, which was marred by an accident.

Two Flintstone players — Carl Thomas and Gary Robinette — were taken to Miners Hospital in Flintstone after colliding. Thomas was treated and released, but Robinette was placed in traction as a result of a neck injury. Xrays were taken.

Flintstone failed to score on its only penalty kick of the afternoon when Valley goalkeeper Bob Creighton made a good stop of Don Kinton's boot. The scoring attempt came with only two and one-half minutes left to play.

The Shockey boys (Dennis and Philip), Larry Suder and Fred Sloan were outstanding for the Knights. Standouts for the losing Aggies were Robinette, Thomas, Don Kinton and Larry Haines.

Bennett Scores Twice

Bruce's Bulldogs scored both of their points on penalty kicks by Irvin Bennett in the first and third periods. The Indians' lone tally came on a field goal by Darrell Blank, whose third period kick score from about 40 yards out.

The Indians had one penalty kick by Ralph Wilson, but it was broken up by Bulldog goalie Charles Ferguson. Ferguson was credited with five saves, while the Indians' Terry Crabtree made 13.

Excelling for the winning boosters were Ferguson, Ken Blizzard, Gerald Miller and Lloyd Fike. The Indians' sparklers were Robert Robertson, Bill Johnson and Darrell Blank.

Alabama Replaces Bucks As AP Grid Poll Leader

Ohio State Plunges To 10th; Texas 2nd, Penn State Is Third

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The game of musical chairs between Alabama and Ohio State in the football rankings has ended. It may be a long time before the highly touted Buckeyes again are in the running for the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press' weekly football poll.

Unbeaten Alabama (3-0) moved up from second place to first by squeaking past weak Vanderbilt, 17-7, while Ohio State (1-1) was the victim of a resounding 9-7 upset by UCLA.

Bucks Drop To 10th

Ohio State, the solid pick in the pre-season poll and the No. 1 team a week ago, fell all the way to 10th place.

Texas (3-0) crushed Tulane 35-8 and advanced to second place giving Alabama a run for the top position. Penn State (3-0), the pride of the East, topped Rice 18-7 and was a strong third.

Then came Southern California (4th), Mississippi (5th), Louisiana State (6th), Washington (7th), Arkansas (8th), Purdue (9th) and Ohio State (10th).

On a point basis, Alabama collected 445, Texas 422 and Penn State 321.

Only four of the top 10—Texas, Penn State, LSU and Washington—appear to be in for any kind of trouble this weekend. Southern California, which edged Iowa 7-0, and Mississippi, which walloped Houston 40-7, are not scheduled this week.

Texas takes on rising Oklahoma (1-1) at Dallas. The Sooners, who beat Syracuse 7-3 and lost 13-7 to Notre Dame, didn't play last Saturday.

Lions Face Cadets

Penn State's Nittany Lions, who have rolled over Navy, Air Force and Rice, take on Army (2-1).

LSU (2-1), fresh from its 10-7 triumph over Georgia Tech, entertains potent Miami of Florida (3-0) Saturday night. The Hurricanes just got by Florida State, 7-6.

Washington (2-0-1), which slaughtered Kansas State 41-0, may have more than it bargained for in Oregon State (2-1) at Portland.

Arkansas (3-0) hosts Baylor (0-2); Purdue (1-0-1) after its 24-6 conquest of Notre Dame is at home to Miami of Ohio (4-0); and smouldering Ohio State (1-1) visits Illinois (0-2).

The Top Ten, based on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 point system (season records and first place votes in parentheses):

1.	Alabama (23) (3-0)	445
2.	Texas (20) (3-0)	422
3.	Penn State (3) (3-0)	321
4.	Southern Cal (1) (3-0)	271
5.	Mississippi (1) (3-0)	218
6.	Louisiana State (2-0-1)	159
7.	Washington (2-0-1)	141
8.	Arkansas (1) (3-0)	135
9.	Purdue (1-0-1)	133
10.	Ohio State (1-1)	126

23 Countries Enter World Golf Tourney

By ALAN CLINE

KAWANA, Japan (AP) — The third World Amateur Golf Tournament opens Wednesday as talk of an American runaway all but disappeared from this rugged, panoramic golfing resort spread out in the shadow of Mt. Fuji on the shores of the Pacific.

At stake is the Eisenhower Cup, a trophy the Americans won two years ago by 42 strokes. The odds are it will not be like that this time.

Four-man teams from 23 countries are entered in the 72-hole medal play event that ends Saturday. Only the low three scores of each team are counted daily.

The U.S. team of Labron Harris Jr., Billy Joe Patton, Dick Sikes and Deane Beman have been shooting over par-golf in practice rounds on the 6,192-yard, par 70 course.

Sikes, two-time National Public Links Champion from Springdale, Ark., left his clubs in his locker Tuesday. He said he was hitting the ball badly and thought a rest would do him more good.

In contrast, New Zealander Stuart Jones fired a 69. He missed a 45-foot putt on the 18th. Jones' teammates, Walter Godfrey, Ross Newdick and Ross Murray had final practice rounds of 72, 73, and 74.

Patton, a member of the 1958 World Amateur team which lost a playoff to Australia, had a final warmup 71; Beman, former U.S. National Amateur champion from Bethesda, Md., 73, and Harris, reigning U.S. Amateur champ from Stillwater, Okla., 74.

Penn State Given 7-Point Edge Over Army, Maryland Picked To Win

Texas Favored To Win Fourth Over Oklahoma

Alabama, Buckeyes Choice; Wisconsin Picked Over Irish

NEW YORK (UPI) — Texas, which this week replaced Ohio State as the nation's No. 1 college football team, Tuesday was established a 13½ point favorite to beat Oklahoma on Saturday and register its fourth straight victory.

Alabama, a close second to Texas in the latest balloting of the United Press International Board of Coaches, was an even more outstanding choice to remain unbeaten this week as it was listed 21 points better than Houston.

Dethroned pacesetter Ohio State, which dropped all the way to 12th place following its upset loss to UCLA, was made a 27-point favorite to bounce back against Illinois.

Lions Given Edge

Penn State, playing for national recognition as well as top eastern honors, gets a chance to strengthen both bids when it meets Army on Saturday. The unbeaten Nittany Lions were a seven-point choice to win their fourth game.

Of the nation's top 10 teams, it is 10th-ranked Northwestern which faces the toughest test this weekend according to the oddsmakers. The surprising Wildcats were rated just a half-point over the always-tough Minnesota Gophers.

Other members of the first 10 were at least one touchdown picks with Washington favored by 6½ over Oregon State, Arkansas 19½ over Baylor and Purdue 20 over Miami of Ohio.

Terps Favored

South — Mississippi St. 7½ over Tulane; Navy 17 over Cornell; Maryland 9 over North Carolina; Duke 14½ over California; Clemson 9 over Georgia; Florida 5 over Texas A&M; Georgia Tech 14 over Tennessee; South Carolina 12 over Wake Forest; Louisiana St. 11 over Miami (Fla.)

Midwest — Michigan St. 8½ over Michigan; Iowa 10 over Indiana; Wisconsin 7½ over Notre Dame; Kansas 5 over Iowa St.; Nebraska 14 over North Carolina State.

Southwest—Texas Christian 11 over Texas Tech; Rice 2 over Oregon.

Sanford Is Disappointed At Decision To Call Game

Pitcher Is Only Giant Bothered By Postponement

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Jack Sanford, who shut out the New York Yankees in the second game of the World Series and was scheduled to work Tuesday, was the only one of the San Francisco Giants bitterly disappointed at the decision to postpone the fifth game.

"It's a big letdown for me," said the worrisome 33-year-old right-hander. "It takes all I've got physically and mentally to work myself up for a game and now I've got to do it all over again. And sometimes you can lose a little with too much rest."

But manager Alvin Dark said, "It makes no difference" and even the tired Willie Mays, who might have welcomed an extra day of rest, said he had come to the ball park to play.

"Makes no difference to me, either," said Willie. "We got three more games on the schedule and I'll take 'em as they come."

Keeps Pitching Pattern

Dark already had set up his pitching pattern for the remainder of the series—Sanford, then Billy Pierce, then Billy O'Dell—and he said that still stands.

"They're ready and I guess the Yankees are ready so I don't see how the postponement can affect the World Series at all," Dark said. "I agreed with Commissioner (Ford) Frick the field was unplayable and like the commissioner I didn't want to see anyone hurt in a game played under poor conditions.

"Tomorrow? Same lineup as today if Ralph Terry pitches for the Yankees."

Frets Over Postponement

But Sanford, who pitched a three-hit, 2-0 shutout in the second game at San Francisco, already was beginning to fret within minutes of the postponement announcement.

"I haven't done any throwing since I pitched last," he said. "I just don't know how the delay will affect me. I probably won't know until I warm up tomorrow.

"I wish we could have gone today. The weather wouldn't have bothered me any but I guess it would have hurt the fielders."

Apparently, however, Dark is thoroughly familiar with Sanford's efforts to build himself up for a big game and had no fear big Jack would get the shakes as a result of the postponement.

"He's my pitcher for tomorrow," Dark said positively.

Yost raised his average to 7.1. He gained 134 yards on 19 carries and has completed 14 of 31 passes for 183 yards and three touchdowns.

Colts' Former Ticket Manager Nabbed By FBI

Hofman Charged With Money Theft

BALTIMORE (AP) — Michael A. Hofman, whose disappearance a month ago left the Baltimore Colts in a season ticket jungle, was arrested Tuesday at his home by FBI agents.

Hofman, 38, and the father of eight, had been ticket manager for the National Football League team since last November.

The FBI charged him with fleeing with $5,000 in stolen money. The Colts figured, however, that the value of tickets involved was more than $100,000. Mrs. Hofman turned over $20,350 to the Colts.

After Hofman disappeared Sept. 10 on the eve of an audit of his books, the Colts found that more than 500 season and individual game tickets had been sold over and over.

The Colt ticket office was manned on a 24-hour basis to straighten out the mix-up in which several persons had claims to the same seat.

The FBI said Hofman had traveled to San Francisco, Reno and Chicago before returning home.

Hofman was taken to the city jail to await action of the federal grand jury after failing to meet $25,000 bail set by U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart.

Twins Send Collum To Vancouver Club

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they have re-purchased southpaw pitcher Jackie Collum from the Cleveland Indians and have assigned him to their Vancouver club in the Pacific Coast League.

Collum was traded to the Indians during the past season for veteran right - hander Ruben Gomez.

To complete this deal, the Twins announced they have sold righthander Georges Maranda to Cleveland's Jacksonville farm club in the International League.

Ladies Hold Tourney

The ladies of the Cumberland Country Club staged a low gross golf tournament yesterday. Winner in the "B" group was Mrs. Robert Davis with 124, and Mrs. Paul Roy took first place in the "C" division with a 126 score.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Willie Mays just has to be the most exciting figure in the World Series. And that's the way it should be for the highest-paid ball player in the business, the majors' home run king this year and a popular hero here and in San Francisco.

Willie did a pretty good job for a "tired" man in wrecking the Dodgers in the playoff, was the big gun for the Giants during the season and continued to hit Whitey Ford like he owned him in the first Series game.

But Willie has another side, too, which doesn't show in the record books. A little kid, in a crippled children's hospital in San Francisco, wrote a note to Willie asking him to hit a homer for him in that first Series game. Willie tried, got three hits, but not the homer, but he wasn't going to let the kid down.

After the game, he made a special trip to the hospital, autographed a baseball for the kid and added to his stature as a helluva guy.

THE INCIDENT is just one of many. And speaking of Willie's appeal, we'd like to pass onto you a story told us at the Series by Frank Scott, the fellow who represents some 60 ball players, including Willie:

"Willie was in New York recently to make an appearance on the Ed Sullivan show. He had a little time to waste, so he asked me to drive him to Harlem. I did, and when we arrived in the area we had to stop for a red light.

"A sidewalk preacher was going it good, gesturing with his arms and he had a good crowd around him. One fellow in the crowd spotted Willie in my car, began to yell and just then the preacher also noted Willie. He put down his Good Book, cut his sermon and raced with the others to the car. All, including the preacher, wanted to shake hands with Willie. The good lesson could wait."

WILLIE HAS HAD a spectacular career with the Giants, coming up in 1951 after only 116 games in the minors with Trenton and Minneapolis, where he wowed 'em with batting averages of .353 and .477.

In his first season, he was in the World Series and as a 19-year-old he did well enough, getting four hits, making 16 putouts and adding a touch of glamor to the come-from-behind Giants of that famed year.

He's been with the club ever since, cracked 51 homers in 1955 after military service and now has a career mark of .315 and has 368 homers in nine and a portion years. He's been in three World Series, still hasn't made an error in them and has been in 11 All-Star games, where he has a batting average of .425.

During the Series Willie is "writing" (Charlie Einstein is the actual writer) a piece each day on the classic. Willie's words, at the start, was that "We'll beat the Yankees."

After the Series, Willie plans to do a bit of barnstorming in addition to many appearances at award dinners.

Texas Favored To Win Fourth Over Oklahoma

Alabama, Buckeyes Choice; Wisconsin Picked Over Irish

NEW YORK (UPI) — Texas, which this week replaced Ohio State as the nation's No. 1 college football team, Tuesday was established a 13½ point favorite to beat Oklahoma on Saturday and register its fourth straight victory.

Alabama, a close second to Texas in the latest balloting of the United Press International Board of Coaches, was an even more outstanding choice to remain unbeaten this week as it was listed 21 points better than Houston.

Dethroned pacesetter Ohio State, which dropped all the way to 12th place following its upset loss to UCLA, was made a 27-point favorite to bounce back against Illinois.

Lions Given Edge

Penn State, playing for national recognition as well as top eastern honors, gets a chance to strengthen both bids when it meets Army on Saturday. The unbeaten Nittany Lions were a seven-point choice to win their fourth game.

Of the nation's top 10 teams, it is 10th-ranked Northwestern which faces the toughest test this weekend according to the oddsmakers. The surprising Wildcats were rated just a half-point over the always-tough Minnesota Gophers.

Other members of the first 10 were at least one touchdown picks with Washington favored by 6½ over Oregon State, Arkansas 19½ over Baylor and Purdue 20 over Miami of Ohio.

In other top games by section:

Terps Favored

South — Mississippi St. 7½ over Tulane; Navy 17 over Cornell; Maryland 9 over North Carolina; Duke 14½ over California; Clemson 9 over Georgia; Florida 5 over Texas A&M; Georgia Tech 14 over Tennessee; South Carolina 12 over Wake Forest; Louisiana St. 11 over Miami (Fla.)

Midwest — Michigan St. 8½ over Michigan; Iowa 10 over Indiana; Wisconsin 7½ over Notre Dame; Kansas 5 over Iowa St.; Nebraska 14 over North Carolina State.

Southwest—Texas Christian 11 over Texas Tech; Rice 2 over Oregon.

West — Washington St. 1½ over Stanford.

Sanford Is Disappointed At Decision To Call Game

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Jack Sanford, who shut out the New York Yankees in the second game of the World Series and was scheduled to work Tuesday, was the only one of the San Francisco Giants bitterly disappointed at the decision to postpone the fifth game.

"It's a big letdown for me," said the worrisome 33-year-old right-hander. "It takes all I've got physically and mentally to work myself up for a game and now I've got to do it all over again. And sometimes you can lose a little with too much rest."

But manager Alvin Dark said, "It makes no difference" and even the tired Willie Mays, who might have welcomed an extra day of rest, said he had come to the ball park to play.

"Makes no difference to me, either," said Willie. "We got three more games on the schedule and I'll take 'em as they come."

Keeps Pitching Pattern

Dark already had set up his pitching pattern for the remainder of the series—Sanford, then Billy Pierce, then Billy O'Dell—and he said that still stands.

"They're ready and I guess the Yankees are ready so I don't see how the postponement can affect the World Series at all," Dark said. "I agreed with Commissioner (Ford) Frick the field was unplayable and like the commissioner I didn't want to see anyone hurt in a game played under poor conditions.

"Tomorrow? Same lineup as today if Ralph Terry pitches for the Yankees."

Frets Over Postponement

But Sanford, who pitched a three-hit, 2-0 shutout in the second game at San Francisco, already was beginning to fret within minutes of the postponement announcement.

"I haven't done any throwing since I pitched last," he said. "I just don't know how the delay will affect me. I probably won't know until I warm up tomorrow.

"I wish we could have gone today. The weather wouldn't have bothered me any but I guess it would have hurt the fielders."

Apparently, however, Dark is thoroughly familiar with Sanford's efforts to build himself up for a big game and had no fear big Jack would get the shakes as a result of the postponement.

"He's my pitcher for tomorrow," Dark said positively.

Colts' Former Ticket Manager Nabbed By FBI

Hofman Charged With Money Theft

BALTIMORE (AP) — Michael A. Hofman, whose disappearance a month ago left the Baltimore Colts in a season ticket jungle, was arrested Tuesday at his home by FBI agents.

Hofman, 38, and the father of eight, had been ticket manager for the National Football League team since last November.

The FBI charged him with fleeing with $5,000 in stolen money. The Colts figured, however, that the value of tickets involved was more than $100,000. Mrs. Hofman turned over $20,350 to the Colts.

After Hofman disappeared Sept. 10 on the eve of an audit of his books, the Colts found that more than 500 season and individual game tickets had been sold over and over.

The Colt ticket office was manned on a 24-hour basis to straighten out the mix-up in which several persons had claims to the same seat.

The Colts after weeks of work saw to it that original purchasers got their proper seats and others were seated elsewhere.

The FBI said Hofman had traveled to San Francisco, Reno and Chicago before returning home.

Hofman was a retired chief yeoman in the Navy and was athletic director at the Patuxent Naval Air Station before joining the Colts.

Hofman was taken to the city jail to await action of the federal grand jury after failing to meet $25,000 bail set by U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart.

Twins Send Collum To Vancouver Club

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they have re-purchased southpaw pitcher Jackie Collum from the Cleveland Indians and have assigned him to their Vancouver club in the Pacific Coast League.

Collum was traded to the Indians during the past season for veteran right - hander Ruben Gomez.

To complete this deal, the Twins announced they have sold righthander Georges Maranda to Cleveland's Jacksonville farm club in the International League.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Willie Mays just has to be the most exciting figure in the World Series. And that's the way it should be for the highest-paid ball player in the business, the majors' home run king this year and a popular hero here and in San Francisco.

Willie did a pretty good job for a "tired" man in wrecking the Dodgers in the playoff, was the big gun for the Giants during the season and continued to hit Whitey Ford like he owned him in the first Series game.

But Willie has another side, too, which doesn't show in the record books. A little kid, in a crippled children's hospital in San Francisco, wrote a note to Willie asking him to hit a homer for him in that first Series game. Willie tried, got three hits, but not the homer, but he wasn't going to let the kid down.

After the game, he made a special trip to the hospital, autographed a baseball for the kid and added to his stature as a helluva guy.

THE INCIDENT is just one of many. And speaking of Willie's appeal, we'd like to pass onto you a story told us at the Series by Frank Scott, the fellow who represents some 60 ball players, including Willie:

"Willie was in New York recently to make an appearance on the Ed Sullivan show. He had a little time to waste, so he asked me to drive him to Harlem. I did, and when we arrived in the area we had to stop for a red light.

"A sidewalk preacher was going it good, gesturing with his arms and he had a good crowd around him. One fellow in the crowd spotted Willie in my car, began to yell and just then the preacher also noted Willie. He put down his Good Book, cut his sermon and raced with the others to the car. All, including the preacher, wanted to shake hands with Willie. The good lesson could wait."

WILLIE HAS HAD a spectacular career with the Giants, coming up in 1951 after only 116 games in the minors with Trenton and Minneapolis, where he wowed 'em with batting averages of .353 and .477.

In his first season, he was in the World Series and as a 19-year-old he did well enough, getting four hits, making 16 putouts and adding a touch of glamor to the come-from-behind Giants of that famed year.

He's been with the club ever since, cracked 51 homers in 1955 after military service and now has a career mark of .315 and has 368 homers in nine and a portion years. He's been in three World Series, still hasn't made an error in them and has been in 11 All-Star games, where he has a batting average of .425.

During the Series Willie is "writing" (Charlie Einstein is the actual writer) a piece each day on the classic. Willie's words, at the start, was that "We'll beat the Yankees."

After the Series, Willie plans to do a bit of barnstorming in addition to many appearances at award dinners.

NEW YORK (UPI) —The postponement of the fifth game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium Tuesday also caused postponement of a welcoming motorcade scheduled Tuesday night in San Francisco.

Market Continues Quiet Course In Posting Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks came back slightly at the close to finish at their best levels Tuesday. Trading failed to do much better than Monday when it was at its lowest ebb in nearly two years.

A fairly encouraging round of optimistic sales and earnings forecasts pulled some individual issues up a point or so but had little over-all affect on the market. Brokers noted that the list would probably continue in its present narrow and quiet course until after the World Series.

Dow - Jones industrial average rose 1.09 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index inched up 0.13. Trading totaled 2,340,000 shares, only 390,000 more than Monday.

The D-J rails were up 0.35, reflecting a rise of 1¼ in Baltimore & Ohio. Utilities rose 0.38, partly mirroring an advance of 1¾ in Panhandle.

A total of 1,198 issues crossed the tape Tuesday of which 542 advanced and 390 declined—29 to new 1962 lows and 3 to new highs.

Market Continues Quiet Course In Posting Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks came back slightly at the close to finish at their best levels Tuesday. Trading failed to do much better than Monday when it was at its lowest ebb in nearly two years.

A fairly encouraging round of optimistic sales and earnings forecasts pulled some individual issues up a point or so but had little over-all affect on the market. Brokers noted that the list would probably continue in its present narrow and quiet course until after the World Series.

Dow - Jones industrial average rose 1.09 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index inched up 0.13. Trading totaled 2,340,000 shares, only 390,000 more than Monday.

The D-J rails were up 0.35, reflecting a rise of 1¼ in Baltimore & Ohio. Utilities rose 0.38, partly mirroring an advance of 1¾ in Panhandle.

A total of 1,198 issues crossed the tape Tuesday of which 542 advanced and 390 declined—29 to new 1962 lows and 3 to new highs.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved mother, Rose Mae Emerick, who passed away October 10, 1955.
Our family circle broken, still
Its bond of love shall keep,
Holding the faith that mother taught
Before she went to sleep . . .
Knowing that he who tends his flock
Shelters her with his sheep.
Sadly missed by
Sons and Daughters

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved mother, Rose Mae Emerick, who passed away October 10, 1955.
Our family circle broken, still
Its bond of love shall keep,
Holding the faith that mother taught
Before she went to sleep . . .
Knowing that he who tends his flock
Shelters her with his sheep.
Sadly missed by

North-South vulnerable, with a 60 part score. North deals.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♦

Declarer's defeat in today's hand may be attributed to a lack of proper detective work. The bidding contained clews which might have alerted South to the pitfalls that lurked before him, had he carefully weighed the evidence.

East's competitive efforts may be attributed to the advanced part score held by his opponents. His two club bid was designed to uncover a fit there, in case North's opening had been based on a three card suit.

West opened the queen of diamonds against the two heart contract, and declarer won the trick with the ace, fearing to hold up lest his opponent had a singleton honor. South knew that West was in position to obtain a diamond ruff and, in an effort to extract trumps as quickly as possible, he led a small heart to the ace and another back to the queen. East showed out on the first trump lead, however, and declarer was soon to regret surrendering his control of the suit.

West was in and led back his remaining diamond. East won the trick with the king and returned the nine of diamonds for West to ruff. This is part of the suit preference convention and requests partner to lead back the higher ranking of the two plain suits. While East can ostensibly get in with either a club or a spade, he thought that, if declarer did happen to have a void, it would assuredly be in clubs.

After trumping the diamond return, West led a spade and East was in with the ace to play another diamond. Declarer ruffed with the nine of hearts, but West overruffed with the ten and cashed the setting trick with the king of spades.

If declarer takes the trump finesse when he has the opportunity, he will be able to draw two rounds of hearts, and the defenders can be limited to five tricks. East's bid of both minor suits marks him as short in hearts, and the possibility that he is void is by no means remote.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♦

Declarer's defeat in today's hand may be attributed to a lack of proper detective work. The bidding contained clews which might have alerted South to the pitfalls that lurked before him, had he carefully weighed the evidence.

East's competitive efforts may be attributed to the advanced part score held by his opponents. His two club bid was designed to uncover a fit there, in case North's opening had been based on a three card suit.

West opened the queen of diamonds against the two heart contract, and declarer won the trick with the ace, fearing to hold up lest his opponent had a singleton honor. South knew that West was in position to obtain a diamond ruff and, in an effort to extract trumps as quickly as possible, he led a small heart to the ace and another back to the queen. East showed out on the first trump lead, however, and declarer was soon to regret surrendering his control of the suit.

West was in and led back his remaining diamond. East won the trick with the king and returned the nine of diamonds for West to ruff. This is part of the suit preference convention and requests partner to lead back the higher ranking of the two plain suits. While East can ostensibly get in with either a club or a spade, he thought that, if declarer did happen to have a void, it would assuredly be in clubs.

After trumping the diamond return, West led a spade and East was in with the ace to play another diamond. Declarer ruffed with the nine of hearts, but West overruffed with the ten and cashed the setting trick with the king of spades.

If declarer takes the trump finesse when he has the opportunity, he will be able to draw two rounds of hearts, and the defenders can be limited to five tricks. East's bid of both minor suits marks him as short in hearts, and the possibility that he is void is by no means remote.

People Sick Of 'Kid Stuff' Carder Says

Good Neighbor Policy Advocated

Russell Carder, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, told South Cumberland residents last night he was "sick and tired of the 'kid' stuff being forced on us by the Democratic Commissioners."

Speaking at a rally held at 224 Virginia Avenue under the sponsorship of the Republican State Central Committee he pledged "as a grown man" to work for all the people of the county.

Mr. Carder said other GOP candidates for County Commissioner have pledged to work as a team to bring responsible representation to the county.

"People of the county," he said, "are entitled to responsible action on the part of mature, adult men after four years of Democratic name-calling and juvenile 'hanky pank.'"

Shinnamon, Ebert and Carder, he said, stand for team work and accomplishment.

He said he is keenly interested in the problems of education in South Cumberland and "will not be like one of the present Democratic commissioners who, with a wave of his hand, said, "they don't need any schools down there."

Pledge Support

South Cumberland needs a junior high school, according to Board of Education statistics, he added, "and I wholeheartedly support such a new school . . . and . . . will not reverse my position regarding this school, as one of our opponents has done."

"It will never be said of Russ Carder," he said, "that he stood in the way of a South Cumberland child's gaining an education."

The Republican team for County Commissioner, he added, is pledged to maintain a good-neighbor policy between the county and the City of Cumberland.

"We believe," he said, "that by working together, city and county, with a fair sharing of improvement costs, both city and county will benefit equally."

He urged the some 150 South End residents present at the rally "to put an end to the irresponsible, juvenile jousting of the Democratic commissioners."

Urges New Bridge

George R. Hughes Jr., GOP candidate for State Senator, spoke on behalf of the statewide candidates and, on his own behalf, said he had worked diligently for the passage of legislation to allow Cumberland to participate in the federal urban renewal program.

He said he also urged, while in the House of Delegates, that a new Wiley Ford Bridge be constructed and is pledged to work for the replacement of the "temporary" span by a modern bridge.

Cites GOP Record

The worthwhile legislation throughout the history of Allegany County has been enacted by Republican representation, said Del. Lester B. Reed in an address on behalf of the GOP candidates to State Senate and the House of Delegates.

He said he was much interested in an article in the October 7 issue of the Sunday Times which stated in part: "the Democratic controlled board (of commissioners) has also provided funds to establish Allegany Community College."

"Don't let us be deceived," Del. Reed said.

The authority for the establishment of junior colleges throughout the state, he said, was provided solely by an act of the 1961 Legislature, and said "The Board of County Commissioners

Leaders At Episcopal Convocation Meeting

These clergymen were leaders at the fall meeting of the Episcopal Convocation of Cumberland held yesterday at Holy Cross Church on Greenway Avenue. Pictured, left to right, are Rev. Powell, bishop of Maryland, who was the celebrant at a Holy Eucharist which opened the activities, and Rev. William J. Cox, vicar of Holy Cross, the host church. Episcopalians from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties are represented.

Cooking School Will Feature Meal Planning

Opens October 16 At Strand Theatre

Area women who are tired of meal planning and have run out of ideas for preparing exciting and economical meals for their families can do something about it by attending the new Times-News Cooking School at the Strand Theatre next week. And they can bring along their husbands and teen-age daughters for a few lessons.

The school begins next Tuesday with an evening session at 7:30 p.m. An afternoon session is scheduled Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. and there will be two morning sessions, Thursday and Friday at 9:30 p.m. Doors will open an hour before starting time each day.

One way to get greater enjoyment from the culinary arts is to know more about the ingredients with which you are dealing. During the four-day spectacular, "Portraits in Food," two talented artists of food preparation will reveal the full spectrum of meat information, its care, cookery and selection as well as the use of lard as a shortening. The presentation is sponsored by Times-News in cooperation with the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

Whys & Wherefores

"Portraits in Food" can supply the whys and wherefores associated with the modern homemaker's dilemma when it comes to variety in meal preparation. New ideas for both the more popular and less demanded cuts of meat will be given. Often the addition of spices and herbs add that extra touch needed to achieve variety. The foods of other lands have influenced the creators of the "Portraits" recipes, bring in another element of variance.

Two skilled and experienced Meat Board home economists, Miss Ruth Hogan and Miss Patricia Turner will demonstrate and actually prepare more than 40 tasty recipes using beef, pork, veal, lamb, lard, sausage, canned, variety, and ready-to-serve meats. They point out that the many different cuts and kinds of meat, plus the many different methods of preparation, provide the homemaker with variety for the production of mealtime masterpieces just as an artist's palate offers him variety for the production of painted masterpieces.

Their lecture-demonstration is geared to the homemaker's needs and requirements. Recognition is given to the family budget and the need to get the most from the food dollar in every household. Pointers on the handling of equipment and short cuts to energy conservation will be given since they play an important part in making the kitchen duties more pleasant.

Handy Cookbook

All recipes demonstrated and more will be found in the handy cook book, "Portraits In Food," which will be distributed to the audience. Those attending each of the four daily programs will be able to follow Miss Hogan and Miss Turner during these demonstrations. Helpful notations can be made as the entertaining presentation is conducted. Vital facts on meat cookery and identification are also included in the recipe book.

All food dishes prepared at the school and food baskets will be given as prizes each day. In addition an opening night prize of a RCA-Victor portable television set and some 100 prizes valued at more than $1,200 also will be awarded. Attendance is required in order to win any of the prizes.

Public Debates May Be Forced On Candidates

Small Launches Attack On Tawes

By The Associated Press

To debate or not debate. That was the question Tuesday night in both Republican and Democratic gubernatorial camps.

Frank Small Jr., GOP candidate for governor, launched another attack on Gov. Tawes for the governor's apparent refusal to meet with Small in public debate.

But at the same time, sources close to Democratic campaign headquarters admitted that the time had come when Tawes would have to debate with Small or lose invaluable face.

The governor cancelled a scheduled appearance Monday night when he found that Small was scheduled to appear on the same platform. The cancellation was made only an hour before the two candidates would have met face-to-face for the first time in the campaign.

Cancels Talk

Tawes said he cancelled his appearance before the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce because the sponsors tried to lure him into a debate with Small without notice.

"My correspondence shows that these people told me I was to be the principal speaker last night," Tawes said.

"Then, about an hour before the meeting, I find out that we are to be given five minutes to speak and then we are both to be questioned by the audience."

Small, who showed up as scheduled for the meeting, charged Tuesday that Tawes had "demonstrated his characteristic lack of forthrightness" in his cancellation.

He said Tawes had an assistant call the chamber of commerce an hour before the scheduled appearance to say the governor could not attend because he had been called back to Annapolis on "urgent state business."

Challenges Small

Tuesday morning, the governor admitted he failed to appear because he found Small was to be on the program.

But if the governor is balking at debating Small, the GOP candidate has not been lacking offers from others.

Baltimore attorney and political gadfly Hyman A. Pressman has challenged Small to debate on the Assateague Island issue on several occasions.

"You are making yourself look silly by avoiding debate with Small," Pressman wired the governor.

Another Democrat, David Hume, also threw his hat into the forensic ring. He challened Small to debate Hume's role in the gubernatorial campaign.

He said Small could pick the time, place and even the audience, if he chose.

Accuses Hume

Small has accused Hume of changing his position on abolishment of slot machines in the state since the primary campaign last spring. Hume, an opponent of Tawes in the May 15 primary, had campaigned vigorously for the abolishment of slots on a statewide level. Small claims Hume has softened his approach in order to support Tawes in the general election.

The governor, who originally said slots were a local issue, recently reversed himself and agreed with Hume that they are a statewide issue. There were no specifics laid down, however, for their abolishment.

Office Of Election Board Busy As 'Vote Day' Nears

At a time when the air is filled with campaign promises by hopeful candidates, many may be led to believe that employes of the office of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, which temporarily closed the registration books September 24, are sitting back and relaxing in anticipation of the general election November 6.

Not so. A visit to the office in the basement of the Court House will disclose that the personnel, including temporary employes, are quite busy catching up on their work prior to the state-wide election.

John R. Kelly, Democrat registrar and chief clerk, said yesterday that the applications of over 1,200 persons who registered in recent weeks are being typed.

After they are approved by Mr. Kelly and Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, a binder card is placed in the books which go to the polling places for verification of voting eligibility on election day.

A master card of each application is placed in the master file which is kept in the office showing the eligible active voters residing in the county.

The verification of eligibility of the new applications must be completed and filed prior to the November 6 election.

Then there are transfers and changes of party affiliation which requires about twice as much time as new applications.

The shift of a voter from one district or precinct to another also must be verified by the two registrars.

The 67 binder books sent to the 45 polling places must be double-checked before they leave the office, said Mr. Kelly.

When asked if the current registration of 39,644 is an all time high, Mr. Kelly pointed out that in recent years the overall figure was about 42,000.

Last November the names of approximately 2,600 persons were removed from the books since the individuals had not voted in the past five years. In November 1959 an additional 2,800 names had been removed. Those persons whose names are removed are compelled to re-register, he added.

This past weekend, Graydon Dunlap, Democrat, and Alvin Gentry, Republican, who are custodians of the voting machines, began setting up the machines for the coming election.

This includes resetting the machines and other work necessary to assure a proper election.

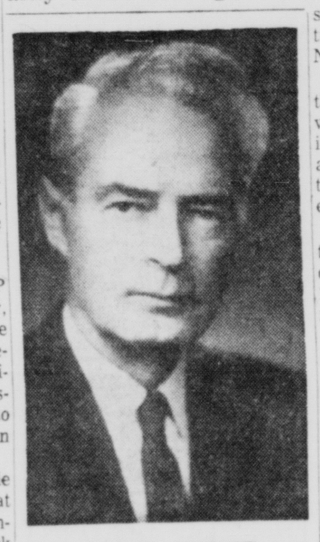

On November 1 and 2 the machines will be transferred from the storage building on Franklin Street to the various polling places. At the same time the election supplies including binders will be delivered to polling places.

Meanwhile the names of the candidates and amendments which voters will consider as they step behind the voting machine curtain on election day have to be set up and forwarded to the printers.

The registration books which were closed on September 24 will be reopened on November 22, Mr. Kelly said.

A note of historical interest was disclosed by Mr. Kelly who said records kept at the office go back to 1882.

Every so often people will go to the office to get verification for a birth certificate needed for Social Security benefits.

Police Question Courtney In Theft Of Bonds

Two Others Held For Grand Jury

George Courtney, 36, of Hagerstown, is being held in Berkeley County (W. Va.) jail in Martinsburg in default of $25,000 bond on a burglary charge in connection with the theft of $127,000 in U. S. bonds from a home in Berkeley Springs on September 10, said authorities.

Two other Hagerstown residents are being held in Morgan County jail in Berkeley Springs in connection with the theft of the bonds. Authorities said $11,000 in cash and jewelry also were taken from the home of Jennie Harmison.

Robert L. Keckler, 35, is charged with burglary and is being held in default of $10,000, according to authorities, who said Lorraine Kuser, 33, is being held in default of $3,500 on a charge of concealing $5,400 cash.

They were arrested last month and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Frank Swaim in Berkeley Springs and are being held for the January term of the grand jury.

Courtney, who was questioned yesterday afternoon at the Morgan County jail by Cpl. Jess Higby of the West Virginia State Police, was transferred to the jail in Martinsburg.

He was given a preliminary hearing on Monday before Justice of the Peace Swaim and will face action of the grand jury, said authorities.

Courtney waived extradition at Harrisburg, Pa. on Monday after bein garrested in Steelton, Pa. on Saturday on a federal warrant charging him with flight to avoid prosecution in the fatal shooting of William J. Chessman, 62, in Hagerstown September 12.

Maryland State Police agreed to file a detainer on Courtney until West Virginia authorities have an opportunity to take action against him.

He was the subject of a widespread search after he eluded undercover agents pretending to negotiate for the stolen bonds at Berkeley Springs on October 4.

Gilbert S. Wenerick, 36, believed to be Courtney's accomplice, led police to a locker room where the bonds were stored. He has been charged with receiving stolen goods by Pennsylvania authorities.

Baltimore Pike Farm Owners Seek Injunction

Lester Raines and Bessie B. Raines, his wife, who own a farm just north of U. S. Route 40 near the Pleasant Valley Road, yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court seeking to enjoin the State Roads Commission, the Allegany County Commissioners and the contractor who built new Route 40 on the westerly side of Martin's Mountain from continuing to discharge surface water onto their property.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines own four parcels totalling about 187 acres along Baltimore Pike.

The bill of complaint, which was filed for Mr. and Mrs. Raines by Attorney Earl E. Manges, identifies the interest of each of the respondents in the case.

The State Roads Commission is involved because of its jurisdiction over U. S. Route 40. The county commissioners are involved because of jurisdiction over the Pleasant Valley Road which extends from U. S. Route 40 on Martin's Mountain in Election District 21 into Pennsylvania. S. J. Groves and Sons, Inc., was the general contractor for the improved new U. S. Route 40 down the westerly slope of Martin's Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines contend in their bill of complaint that the change in the reconstructed and relocated Route 40 has changed water flow so that the waters are discharged onto their property.

They seek an injunction requiring the respondents to divert the surface waters from their lands so as to stop what they call continual damage and trespassing of the water onto their property.

They also request compensation for the damages which they allege have been caused by the water running onto their property.

Principals Discuss Teacher Qualifications

Who is a good teacher?

That basic question was discussed yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Board of Education office at the monthly meeting of the high school principals, according to Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools was chairman of the meeting.

Two principals and a supervisor led the three phases of the discussion.

Dr. Wayne W. Hill, principal of Fort Hill High School, led the discussion on the first question: What does research have to contribute in regard to the factors related to teaching effectiveness?

The Fort Hill principal said there is a positive correlation between scholarship and effective teaching and a rather high correlation between professional background and effective teaching.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics, discussed the evaluations of the kinds of ratings used to determine effective teaching. One of her conclusions was that supervisors and students are better evaluators of teachers than are other teachers.

The final discussion was led by Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, principal of Mt. Savage High School. This was a discussion of the use of "merit rating" as a basis for a salary scale.

All of the high school principals and most of the county supervisors attended the meeting.

People Sick Of 'Kid Stuff' Carder Says

Good Neighbor Policy Advocated

Russell Carder, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, told South Cumberland residents last night he was "sick and tired of the 'kid' stuff being forced on us by the Democratic Commissioners."

Speaking at a rally held at 224 Virginia Avenue under the sponsorship of the Republican State Central Committee he pledged "as a grown man" to work for all the people of the county.

Mr. Carder said other GOP candidates for County Commissioner have pledged to work as a team to bring responsible representation to the county.

"People of the county," he said, "are entitled to responsible action on the part of mature, adult men after four years of Democratic name-calling and juvenile 'hanky pank.'"

Shinnamon, Ebert and Carder, he said, stand for team work and accomplishment.

He said he is keenly interested in the problems of education in South Cumberland and "will not be like one of the present Democratic commissioners who, with a wave of his hand, said, "they don't need any schools down there."

Pledge Support

South Cumberland needs a junior high school, according to Board of Education statistics, he added, "and I wholeheartedly support such a new school . . . and . . . will not reverse my position regarding this school, as one of our opponents has done."

"It will never be said of Russ Carder," he said, "that he stood in the way of a South Cumberland child's gaining an education."

The Republican team for County Commissioner, he added, is pledged to maintain a good-neighbor policy between the county and the City of Cumberland.

"We believe," he said, "that by working together, city and county, with a fair sharing of improvement costs, both city and county will benefit equally."

He urged the some 150 South End residents present at the rally "to put an end to the irresponsible, juvenile jousting of the Democratic commissioners."

Urges New Bridge

George R. Hughes Jr., GOP candidate for State Senator, spoke on behalf of the statewide candidates and, on his own behalf, said he had worked diligently for the passage of legislation to allow Cumberland to participate in the federal urban renewal program.

He said he also urged, while in the House of Delegates, that a new Wiley Ford Bridge be constructed and is pledged to work for the replacement of the "temporary" span by a modern bridge.

Cites GOP Record

The worthwhile legislation throughout the history of Allegany County has been enacted by Republican representation, said Del. Lester B. Reed in an address on behalf of the GOP candidates to State Senate and the House of Delegates.

He said he was much interested in an article in the October 7 issue of the Sunday Times which stated in part: "the Democratic controlled board (of commissioners) has also provided funds to establish Allegany Community College."

"Don't let us be deceived," Del. Reed said.

The authority for the establishment of junior colleges throughout the state, he said, was provided solely by an act of the 1961 Legislature, and said "The Board of County Commissioners

Cresap Drive Line Is Being Installed

Water Department crews are making progress on the laying of a new water line to serve residents of Cresap Drive in Bowling Green.

About 700 feet of the four-inch line, which will be about 2,000 feet long, have been laid and crews expect to complete the project in a few weeks.

The cost of the project, which replaces a two-inch line found to be full of leaks, will be charged to persons using the line.

Principals Discuss Teacher Qualifications

Who is a good teacher?

That basic question was discussed yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Board of Education office at the monthly meeting of the high school principals, according to Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools was chairman of the meeting.

Two principals and a supervisor led the three phases of the discussion.

Dr. Wayne W. Hill, principal of Fort Hill High School, led the discussion on the first question: What does research have to contribute in regard to the factors related to teaching effectiveness?

The Fort Hill principal said there is a positive correlation between scholarship and effective teaching and a rather high correlation between professional background and effective teaching.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics, discussed the evaluations of the kinds of ratings used to determine effective teaching. One of her conclusions was that supervisors and students are better evaluators of teachers than are other teachers.

The final discussion was led by Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, principal of Mt. Savage High School. This was a discussion of the use of "merit rating" as a basis for a salary scale.

All of the high school principals and most of the county supervisors attended the meeting.

Cooking School Will Feature Meal Planning

Opens October 16 At Strand Theatre

Area women who are tired of meal planning and have run out of ideas for preparing exciting and economical meals for their families can do something about it by attending the new Times-News Cooking School at the Strand Theatre next week. And they can bring along their husbands and teen-age daughters for a few lessons.

The school begins next Tuesday with an evening session at 7:30 p.m. An afternoon session is scheduled Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. and there will be two morning sessions, Thursday and Friday at 9:30 p.m. Doors will open an hour before starting time each day.

One way to get greater enjoyment from the culinary arts is to know more about the ingredients with which you are dealing. During the four-day spectacular, "Portraits in Food," two talented artists of food preparation will reveal the full spectrum of meat information, its care, cookery and selection as well as the use of lard as a shortening. The presentation is sponsored by Times-News in cooperation with the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

Whys & Wherefores

"Portraits in Food" can supply the whys and wherefores associated with the modern homemaker's dilemma when it comes to variety in meal preparation. New ideas for both the more popular and less demanded cuts of meat will be given. Often the addition of spices and herbs add that extra touch needed to achieve variety. The foods of other lands have influenced the creators of the "Portraits" recipes, bring in another element of variance.

Two skilled and experienced Meat Board home economists, Miss Ruth Hogan and Miss Patricia Turner will demonstrate and actually prepare more than 40 tasty recipes using beef, pork, veal, lamb, lard, sausage, canned, variety, and ready-to-serve meats. They point out that the many different cuts and kinds of meat, plus the many different methods of preparation, provide the homemaker with variety for the production of mealtime masterpieces just as an artist's palate offers him variety for the production of painted masterpieces.

E. B. VAN FOSSEN

Van Fossen Wins Medal In Art Show

E. Burnett Van Fossen, a former resident of Frostburg, was named winner of the gold medal award and a gold certificate at the Carolinas Art Directors Show recently in Charlotte, N. C.

The competition, which embraced both North and South Carolina, drew over 500 entries—advertisements, posters and other printed materials from many of the largest concerns and advertising agencies in the country.

Mr. Van Fossen is associate art director of Cargill, Wilson and Acree, Inc., one of the South's largest advertising agencies, with offices in Charlotte and Richmond, Va. While a resident of Frostburg, he was associated with the Hafer Furniture Company, and was a member of several civic and social clubs.

Baltimore Pike Farm Owners Seek Injunction

Lester Raines and Bessie B. Raines, his wife, who own a farm just north of U. S. Route 40 near the Pleasant Valley Road, yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court seeking to enjoin the State Roads Commission, the Allegany County Commissioners and the contractor who built new Route 40 on the westerly side of Martin's Mountain from continuing to discharge surface water onto their property.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines own four parcels totalling about 187 acres along Baltimore Pike.

The bill of complaint, which was filed for Mr. and Mrs. Raines by Attorney Earl E. Manges, identifies the interest of each of the respondents in the case.

The State Roads Commission is involved because of its jurisdiction over U. S. Route 40. The county commissioners are involved because of jurisdiction over the Pleasant Valley Road which extends from U. S. Route 40 on Martin's Mountain in Election District 21 into Pennsylvania. S. J. Groves and Sons, Inc., was the general contractor for the improved new U. S. Route 40 down the westerly slope of Martin's Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines contend in their bill of complaint that the change in the reconstructed and relocated Route 40 has changed water flow so that the waters are discharged onto their property.

They seek an injunction requiring the respondents to divert the surface waters from their lands so as to stop what they call continual damage and trespassing of the water onto their property.

They also request compensation for the damages which they allege have been caused by the water running onto their property.

Bishop Reports $1,435,417 County Balance

County Treasurer James W. Bishop yesterday submitted a report to the Board of County Commissioners showing that the county had a cash balance of $1,435,417.10 as of September 30.

Mr. Bishop's report listed an August 31 balance of $751,332.87, September receipts of $199,884.44, plus $1,200,000 from U. S. Treasury bills which matured and a $50 check which was returned.

These receipts brought the total available funds to $2,151,267.31 but September expenditures of $715,850.21 sent the balance down to $1,435,417.10.

Mr. Bishop's report also showed nearly $2,00,000 of other county funds in investments. Included were $1,089,964.89 in U. S. Treasury bills and $900,000 worth of certified deposits or a total of $1,989,964.89.

Public Debates May Be Forced On Candidates

Small Launches Attack On Tawes

By The Associated Press

To debate or not debate. That was the question Tuesday night in both Republican and Democratic gubernatorial camps.

Frank Small Jr., GOP candidate for governor, launched another attack on Gov. Tawes for the governor's apparent refusal to meet with Small in public debate.

But at the same time, sources close to Democratic campaign headquarters admitted that the time had come when Tawes would have to debate with Small or lose invaluable face.

The governor cancelled a scheduled appearance Monday night when he found that Small was scheduled to appear on the same platform. The cancellation was made only an hour before the two candidates would have met face-to-face for the first time in the campaign.

Cancels Talk

Tawes said he cancelled his appearance before the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce because the sponsors tried to lure him into a debate with Small without notice.

"My correspondence shows that these people told me I was to be the principal speaker last night," Tawes said.

"Then, about an hour before the meeting, I find out that we are to be given five minutes to speak and then we are both to be questioned by the audience."

Small, who showed up as scheduled for the meeting, charged Tuesday that Tawes had "demonstrated his characteristic lack of forthrightness" in his cancellation.

He said Tawes had an assistant call the chamber of commerce an hour before the scheduled appearance to say the governor could not attend because he had been called back to Annapolis on "urgent state business."

Challenges Small

Tuesday morning, the governor admitted he failed to appear because he found Small was to be on the program.

But if the governor is balking at debating Small, the GOP candidate has not been lacking offers from others.

Baltimore attorney and political gadfly Hyman A. Pressman has challenged Small to debate on the Assateague Island issue on several occasions.

"You are making yourself look silly by avoiding debate with Small," Pressman wired the governor.

Another Democrat, David Hume, also threw his hat into the forensic ring. He challened Small to debate Hume's role in the gubernatorial campaign.

He said Small could pick the time, place and even the audience, if he chose.

Accuses Hume

Small has accused Hume of changing his position on abolishment of slot machines in the state since the primary campaign last spring. Hume, an opponent of Tawes in the May 15 primary, had campaigned vigorously for the abolishment of slots on a statewide level. Small claims Hume has softened his approach in order to support Tawes in the general election.

The governor, who originally said slots were a local issue, recently reversed himself and agreed with Hume that they are a statewide issue. There were no specifics laid down, however, for their abolishment.

Presbytery Holds Session

Some 118 active and retired Presbyterian clergymen attended the 532nd stated meeting of the Presbytery of Baltimore which came to an end at the Frostburg Presbyterian Church last night.

Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, spoke on "Youth In Present Day Society" at the dinner which concluded the day-long meeting of the Presbytery. He was one of a group of educators who visited the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs.

During the afternoon session, Carlton R. Guenther, moderator of the Synod of the Chesapeake, submitted a report on the Presbyterian Eye, Ear and Throat Charity Hospital and Greater Baltimore Medical Center. This is a new $11 million hospital which is a continuation of the Women's Hospital of Maryland.

Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cumberland, led a period of prayer and devotion which opened the meeting yesterday morning.

Rev. John Murray Smoot, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church of Baltimore, as moderator of the Presbytery, presided at the meeting.

Those attending the Frostburg meeting were reminded of the All - Presbyterian Reformation Day Service which will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday, October 28, at the First Presbyterian Church in Baltimore. Next meeting of the Presbytery is scheduled for December 8 in Frederick.
